TROOPS MARCHING ON MEXICAN CAPITAL

FIND GIRL LYING IN POOL OF BLOOD!

YOUNG WOMAN VICTIM OF MYSTERY ASSAULT AT APARTMENT PARTY

Victim of an unexplained accident following an asserted party in an apartment-house at 1318 Maryland street, a girl, 21 years of age, identified as Mrs. Jewel De Groin, was found lying in an unconscious condition in a pool of blood on the sidewalk three stories below her room at the above address late last night. She was rushed in the police ambulance to the hospital, where it was said she had suffered a fractured skull and concussion of the brain and might not live.

The manner in which the girl was injured was late last night a still-unsolved problem and mysterious circumstances led detectives to believe that she either had fallen from the fire escape on the third floor of the apartment-house when taken sick or that she had been the victim of a struggle and had been thrown from the window. Detective Sergeants Carr and Hickey, who investigated, were more inclined to the first belief, having found evidence which indicated the young woman may have fainted.

The other circumstances of the case are: Mrs. Lorraine Webster, aged 25 years, who said she was a room-mate of the injured girl, was taken to the City Jail after having been examined for intoxication at the Receiving Hospital.

Two young men, who were said to have partaken of the supper and of Gordon gin, a partly emptied bottle of which was found in the apartment by the detectives, fled from the scene of the mystery after they had picked up the injured girl and placed her in the lobby of the apartment-house just as the police ambulance arrived. This information was furnished the police at a late hour last night, with the injured girl in the hospital unable to tell what had befallen her, her room-mate in jail and unable to talk lucidly, the two young men had not communicated with the police. A rigid search is being made for them.

Police surgeons declared, according to the detectives, that there were bruises on Mrs. De Groin's throat which might have been made by some one choking her.

Mrs. Webster told the detectives that she is the mother of a 5-year-old boy. Mrs. De Groin, the detectives say, has two children living with a sister, Mrs. W. R. Anderson at 97 Canfield street, Detroit, Mich.

MAIN TALK ON NAVAL REDUCTION BY AMERICA.

Bid for Greater Proportional Strength Not Welcomed; Changes in Plan Will be Resisted.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—Japan's request for an increase in the proportional strength of her navy may lead speedily to some plain talk across the council table of the Arms conference.

The American delegation stands ready to dispute any major departure from the ratio set forth in the American plan. This, it was emphasized by highest authorities today, is the existing proportional strength and so cannot be altered without upsetting a fundamental principle of the whole plan.

In effect the American figures would give Japan six fighting ships to every ten owned by the United States and every ten owned by Great Britain. The Japanese have hinted, but never formally announced, that they want seven to ten. The naval experts of the United States really believe that five to ten is nearer the proper allotment. Great Britain has accepted the six-to-ten plan in principle, but her spokesmen have been silent about the new Japanese proposals.

STRUGGLE FORECAST.

If it turns out that the "slightly greater" naval force suggested for Japan by Admiral Baron Kato amounts only to the addition of one battle cruiser to the Japanese figures, then the emphatic objections of the American delegates may not be deemed necessary. But if the suggestion compre[illegible] proportions, [illegible] a struggle that a [illegible] diplomatic struggle will result.

Neither the conference nor any of its committees met, but the nine delegations will assemble tomorrow in executive session to resume discussions of the Far East.

It was revealed today that the administration does not propose to limit the armament agreement, if there is one, to the nations represented in the conference. Whether a treaty or simply an "understanding" will come out of the negotiations, administration officials would not predict, but it was said that whatever the form of agreement the other interested nations would be asked to participate.

Should no treaty requiring Senate confirmation result, it was said to be the administration's belief the whole armament reduction program could be put through without Congressional action. International "understandings" of policy do not require the approval of Congress, and officials say the proposed scrapping of warships could be accomplished under general authority by the executive.

There was every indication tonight all the powers would go into tomorrow's Far Eastern conference fully prepared to express their views on the plan presented as a basis of discussion by China. During the two-day recess the foreign delegations have been in touch with their governments, and although not all may desire to make detailed statements of their

FRANCE ALIGNS HERSELF SOLIDLY WITH AMERICA.

Briand Takes Issue With Britain on Submarine Cut; Again Urges Protection from Germany.

BY HENRY WALES.
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—Aligning herself solidly beside the United States, France today took decisive issue with Britain regarding further limitation of submarines in the naval disarmament discussions.

Shifting to land armaments, France intimated that if she were offered suitable guarantees from the other great powers she would be willing to reduce her army materially.

Premier Briand, who enunciated France's policy to newspaper correspondents, demanded a new entente cordiale—for the Pacific and Far East—which might eventually be stretched to the Rhine and to Russia.

TO SPEAK ON ARMY.

Briand first announced that he would deliver a forty-five-minute speech at the plenary session of the conference on Monday morning. He will speak in French, extemporaneously, following his custom, and there will be translation into English at five-minute intervals.

Marshal Foch will be present as a military expert at Monday's session and although he is not set down for an address it is understood that Congress, which will occupy the balcony of Continental Memorial Hall, is preparing a demonstration and will call on him to speak.

In exposing his government's viewpoint to journalists this evening, weighing his words as he took direct issue with Great Britain on the submarine problem which threatens to deadlock the conference, Briand said:

WEAPON OF WEAK.

"The submarine is the weapon of the weak. We cannot take the same view about submarines as the British, because it is impossible to foresee the exact character of future naval warfare. Consequently France cannot take the engagements regarding submarines that the British suggest."

M. Briand's hint that naval operations in the next war may be revolutionized by introduction of new combat factors aroused considerable interest as this is not the first time that mysterious inventions, making present types of warships obsolete, have been mentioned in conference circles.

The statement also was significant in view of cabled reports from Paris today that the naval committee of the French Senate has just asked credits for construction of twenty-four new submersibles of an improved type.

WANTS PROTECTION.

"If the peoples will come to our assistance if we are wantonly attacked, we can reduce our land armaments. It is no pleasure for France to spend money on armies," said Briand, intimating that he will try engineers correct bid for guarantees from the great powers against German aggression.

Regarding the Far East problems, M. Briand stated that principles establishing a peaceful atmosphere there should be agreed on at this conference.

"I see no reason why an entente cordiale in the Pacific cannot come as a result," he said, "since none of the powers concerned harbors thoughts or ambitions of imperialism in that direction," reiterating his feelers for guarantees of France's security.

"I believe that the principles governing a solution of the Far East Pacific problem will be accepted during the tenure of this conference," concluded M. Briand.

The French delegation believes that principles and plans as bases for solution will be adopted before Christmas, and that a new conference will be called next spring to consider application of these principles, the draft plans being worked out in the interim by technical experts of the various powers concerned.

British Hope for End of "Suspicion."

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—British spokesmen regard the Washington conference, so far as it concerns limitation of naval armament, distinctly as a "success" leaving only details to be ironed out.

"I have never been present at a more remarkable conference," said one of them today, speaking for publication. "No conference ever started under happier auspices or with a greater promise of success."

"But," he added, when the question of submarine tonnage was mentioned, "if this conference merely results in the substitution of the submarine for the overseas fleet, it would be barren of result. I very strongly hope that the result will be that nations will become less suspicious of one another and eventually render unnecessary both the overseas fleet and the submarine."

LONDON LAUDS YANKEE PLAN.

Eulogize Hughes Proposal for Naval Holiday.

Japanese Objections Called Crux of Conference.

Fear Control of Sea May Pass to America.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, Nov. 18.—Almost without exception the London weekly reviews, most of which appear on Friday, eulogize the Washington conference and especially the Hughes proposals for a naval holiday.

Referring to Japan's objections to the proposals, the Spectator thinks this will constitute the crux of the whole conference. "If Japan agrees to a naval holiday," says the Spectator, "which we must admit, will maintain her relative naval inferiority to Great Britain and America, she is certain to ask to be compensated for giving up what she believes to be a good chance of securing command of the seas."

The Spectator says, Japan, if she is frank, will say her navy was not built for self-defense, but in order to secure her rights in the Far East, and on the Asiatic mainland, which she considers as hers by virtue of her military and naval prowess, her growing population and expanding trade. It considers that Japan must "be given reasonable satisfaction, but we must also make clear to her what we want to bring to the world is peace, and not a new type of sword." Incidentally, the Spectator expresses belief that what really matters at the conference is the cementing of blood and brotherhood between Great Britain and America.

The Saturday Review thinks sober reason is required to judge the American plan for limitation of armaments, and says:

"There is doubt as to whether a treaty embodying it will be accepted by the Senate." The Review says peculiar conditions will be created by the proposals. "At the end of ten years, two British and six American ships will be obsolete. The American six may be replaced but the British two may not, until the British total tonnage shall have fallen below 500,000. The control of the sea . . . would thus pass to the United States," it declared.

The newspaper says the scheme cannot properly be judged until the practical regulations whereby it is to be in force are available. "Seriously," the Review asks, "is this a time to play tricks with our navy, and by abandoning four new battleships, to throw thousands out of work and also to prevent the proper training of our personnel?"

"To the nobility of aspiration which inspired the American scheme we can give most generous recognition, but it with facts and not aspirations that we have to deal."

FROM THE NATION.

"For the bold management of an international conference," says the Nation, "there has been nothing in diplomatic history to compare with the opening move of Secretary Hughes at Washington."

The Nation says Mr. Hughes frankly adopted parliamentary methods "against baffling platitudes and secrecy which prevailed at Paris," and considers he won the public opinion of the world at large, and especially in England.

The Nation says that instead of first reducing armaments the question of Far Eastern policy should have been settled. It says that former President Wilson was blackmailed by the Allies at Paris through his thinking that nothing mattered but his League of Nations, and declares Mr. Hughes will have hard work to avoid the same danger. The Nation expresses dislike to competitive armament building and expresses the hope that all capital ships may be scrapped before ten years expire.

The New Statesmen also emphasizes the change from the diplomacy of the Paris peace conference—where, it says, "Wilson was first asphyxiated and then outwitted"—to the open diplomacy at Washington, where "Hughes put all his cards on the table."

TRIBUTE TO HUGHES.

The Statesman pays a tribute to Hughes's achievement in "raising the level of discussion to a height which the most sanguine of idealists had not hoped for."

The paper then expresses hope that the British reservation regarding the slow and continued replacement of capital ships will not be pressed, for obvious if it strikes at the American scheme. We want to get rid of competition, not to restrict it. The Washington conference has begun amazing well. The government has broken the ice of diplomatic reserve and thereby worked a miracle."

After remarking that Mr. Hughes's proposals are a repetition on a larger scale for the suggestion of a naval holiday which Winston Churchill made to Germany a decade ago, the Outlook says:

"America, after sulking in her tent for two years, has come forth again when the tide of fate seemed to be running strong against humanity and her first effort has given renewed hope to a despairing world. America has the international mind and only an international mind can save us."

The Outlook is convinced that after this auspicious beginning, a satisfactory settlement of the problems can be obtained. It implores Secretary Hughes before the conference terminates to turn his attention to Europe's woes and suggests that the French attempt "to establish military hegemony in Europe comes within the legitimate scope of the Disarmament Conference."

RUNS STARTED ON BANKS IN CHINA.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—Runs have started on the Bank of Communications and the Bank of China in Peking, Tientsin and Shanghai, according to a Peking cable to the Commerce Department today.

These banks, the cable said, have suspended redemption of notes in Peking in excess of ten Mexican dollars per person, but are paying depositors' checks in silver.

views now, there is a general expectation some progress will be possible.

The Japanese, in particular, indicated that they preferred to have their policies developed step by step. They were prepared to ask for an interpretation of some of the Chinese ten points and seemed especially interested in the proposal for the re-examination of all compacts affecting China. Should China desire to reopen what Japan regards as closed incidents, the step will be opposed determinedly.

General support of China's aspiration for national development, free from the restrictions that hitherto have surrounded her, was expressed among the British delegates, who declared their government was ready to give up the extraterritorial privilege as soon as Chinese courts were sufficiently developed to guarantee justice. A similar attitude already had been indicated by France and the United States.

The Chinese delegates themselves will go into tomorrow's meeting with the attitude that, having laid down their declaration of rights, it is someone else's move. They are preparing for no further statement but say they will be glad to answer questions and explain their interpretation of their propositions.

A formal call was issued today for the third public session of the conference, which is to be held Monday. Premier Briand, of France, is expected to speak to the delegates on land armaments, in which France is vitally interested, laying down a formula that will become the basis of discussion later.

GARY FAVORS END OF WARS.

limitation of capital ships," he said, "it would not seem to be practical to stop with less than a final treaty which will prevent future wars. In addition to what is contemplated by the limitation of armament, there should, with other things, be an understanding that if any international differences arose no resort to military force should be permitted until after there has been a conference and full discussion by all nations participating in the deliberations at Washington.

"President Harding and the four selected, able and experienced representatives of this country will energetically and persistently strive for an agreement.

BENEFITS DERIVED.

"The benefits which would be derived by reason of all the nations living under peaceful conditions, as compared with military conflicts, are beyond calculation. If means for the firm establishment and maintenance of peace can be found and generally assented to, it will mark an epoch of the greatest business prosperity, as well as the largest measure of happiness that the world has ever witnessed. We should be thankful that this conference has been called."

Failure of the conference, he said, was unthinkable. An adverse outcome would be intolerable and those responsible for it would be repudiated and everlastingly condemned.

Gary said it seemed to us generally conceded that business conditions throughout the country for the last six months had been steadily, if slowly, growing better. The volume of business in the steel industry had more than doubled in the last ninety days, he said, though profits had been little or nothing, due to the high costs and low prices. Of the country's business outlook, he said:

"Even though we now have passed the most critical period of our recovery, I still think we would not be warranted in concluding we have arrived at the point where we can with certainty predict the exact time when there will be a return to a normal financial, commercial and industrial basis, for the world's economic structure has been terribly shaken by adverse winds during the last few years. There must be further adjustments.

"The delay in complete restoration of a sound and satisfactory economic development and activity in this country is largely due to high costs—high costs of living, high costs of production and transportation and high costs of owning and earning money or its equivalent."

and are reported to have broken into one of the principal European clubs, where they assaulted servants and damaged property. The police fired on the crowd, there being several casualties, among them three policemen killed.

The prevalent but mistaken belief that the presence of the Prince of Wales would prevent the use of firearms by the authorities added to the violence.

SECRET CIRCULAR.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

DUBLIN, Nov. 18.—The Irish Bulletin today publishes the text of an alleged secret circular issued from the divisional commissioner of the Royal Irish Constabulary at Belfast. It is dated November 9, and addressed to "the commissioners, all county inspectors and all county commandants." It says that owing to the growth of unauthorised loyalist defense forces, the government is considering the desirability of forming these unauthorized forces into regular military units on the territorial basis.

The funeral of Alderman Barry, a well-known Cork citizen, who was shot dead on Tuesday in the Ballykinlar camp, where he had been interned, was made the occasion today for the greatest demonstration since the death of Lord Mayor MacSwiney. The camp granted temporary parole to several interned men to enable them to form a guard of honor. Daniel O'Callaghan, Lord Mayor of Cork, and Liam Roisite and J. J. Walsh, members of the House of Commons for Cork, were the chief mourners.

A motor hearse brought the body of Barry from the camp to Dublin; all along the route Sinn Feiners gathered to pay tribute. On its arrival here there was a huge demonstration by civic and labor bodies.

JAPS GETTING SUSPICIOUS.

Tokio Sees Advatnages for America in Navy Plan.

Thinks She Should Have Twelve Battleships.

Pick Many Flaws in Hughes Reduction Proposals.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

TOKIO, Nov. 18.—After the first enthusiasm over the anticipated relief of armament burdens a spirit of caution has developed in Japan, with the inclination to look for a possible advantage to the United States in its proposal for a ten-year naval holiday and limitation of navies. Expressions favoring a more equal balance of power have become the conspicuous public note concerning the scheme, with the probable disturbance of labor conditions as a secondary consideration.

The sacrifice of warships aggregating 450,000 tons by Japan would be equal to the scrapping of 1,500,000 tons by the United States. Japanese analysts declare, on the ground that in an emergency the United States could replace her lost tonnage within a third or even a fifth of the time required by Japan.

FIVE CAPITAL SHIPS.

It is pointed out that the American proposals would leave the United States five capital ships, constructed between 1914 and 1916, while, with the exception of the Nagato, Japan's would all be of the period prior to 1913.

It is admitted that the Japanese navy would be superior to the American in speed through elimination of the cruisers, but experts declare in all else the plan would favor the United States. Some members of the Admiralty are credited with expressing the belief that the Japanese fleet should aggregate 66 per cent of the American total. Naval writers, expressing the opinion that the United States will not take the position that its proposals are not subject to amendment, see a fair prospect for an amicable adjustment.

AMERICAN FORTIFICATION.

Concessions by the United States in regard to Pacific fortifications as an offset to what is generally coming to be regarded as the unfair ratio of naval strength, as suggested by Baron Tochiatsu Sakamota, an influential member of the House of Peers in an article in the Asahi Shimbun.

He declares that the ratio should be twelve battleships for Japan to eighteen for the United States instead of ten to eighteen. He says further that under the Hughes plan, with Japan retaining only one of the superdreadnaught type the Nagato, against America's three, Japan's ratio would be reduced to approximately ten to twenty. A fairer balance, he argues, might be secured in a different direction, namely, the fortification, which he said it is important to discuss together with the question of eliminating all naval bases which menace Japan.

AERIAL RESTRICTIONS.

The Hochi Shimbun considers there has been a serious omission in the proposals, inasmuch as restriction of aerial possibilities is not touched upon. There has been a striking development in this department in America, says this newspaper, and it declares that the Americans attach greater importance to aerial supremacy than to dreadnaughts. It expresses the hope that the United States will propose equally drastic restrictions along these lines.

Attention also is given by the commentators to Far Eastern questions. Among the views given are those of Reijiro Wakatsuki, former Minister of Finance, who takes it for granted that the Anglo-Japanese alliance is doomed and foresees the possibility of something in the nature of a three-power entente in its place.

Meanwhile the Kaga, the giant battleship with a displacement of 39,000 tons, one of those destined to be scrapped under the Washington proposals, was launched this morning at Kobe.

SPANGLER, McCORMICK IN CLASH.

Business Manager of Chicago Grand Opera Company Has Resigned.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—George M. Spangler, business manager of the Chicago Grand Opera Company, "loaned" to the company by the Chicago Association of Commerce last year to inject some business methods into the opera affairs, has resigned. It is said his resignation followed differences over methods with Harold F. McCormick and something approaching a quarrel last Wednesday.

Director Mary Garden, so far as learned, is not involved in the trouble. She could not be reached today and neither McCormick nor Spangler would talk beyond admitting the resignation had been tendered and accepted. A. C. Shaw has been appointed the new business manager. He has been tour manager of the opera association for the last six years and his arrangements for the appearance of the company in various large cities have always been successful, financially and otherwise.

Mr. Spangler was Mary Garden's own choice and when he took over the business end of the opera association, it made the association of commerce a sort of sponsor for the opera company. He is a native of Cleveland, O., and has been in Chicago seventeen years, acting for many years as convention manager for the association of commerce. Under his management the opera company was able to wipe out a heavy deficit and to secure heavy pledges from opera-loving citizens to contribute $2000 annually for a period of five years to relieve the company of any financial worries.

PLAN TO LINK BIG NATIONS.

reduction and limitation of naval armament is reached by the powers represented in this conference, all other countries will be invited to subscribe to it as a world charter of peace, proclaimed by an association of nations dedicated to the adoption of practical means to minimize war.

(6.) No formal treaties, requiring the consent of the Senate are contemplated, the purpose being to achieve the object in each case by an exchange of diplomatic notes, though executive orders and perhaps some legislation would be required to carry out the naval holiday and scrapping of ships on the part of the United States.

REPORTS TO CABINET.

Secretary of State Hughes made full reports at the Cabinet meeting this forenoon of the progress of the negotiations. It was the general opinion of the President and his official advisers that the prospects of success of the conference could not be better. Certain it is that the spirit manifested by the members of the American delegation could not be better.

The movement is in the direction of an understanding less formal than a treaty, ratification of which by the Senate would be necessary. In the case of an exchange of notes on the Far East, the understanding would lack the full binding force of a treaty, but the administration and other nations would be spared the uncertainty of Senate action, upon which Jack Mr. Wilson came to grief.

Mr. Harding assumes that there would be no difficulty in obtaining from Congress the legislation necessary to carry out the naval holiday, though the scrapping of ships he has the authority to order at any time upon recommendation of the Navy Department.

OPPOSITION IDEAS.

The contention advanced by the Hearst papers that the Hughes plan would deprive Congress of control of the Navy, and is therefore unconstitutional, is pronounced by the White House as not worthy of serious consideration.

That the President still has in mind the association of nations for consultation of members to provide world peace has been disclosed by Mr. Harding himself in discussing with American officials and foreign envoys the results he hopes the conference will achieve in a world-wide agreement to limit first navies and eventually armies.

The position of the American delegation was thus set forth:

"The great evil which we want to eradicate is competition in armament. There can be no settlement of the problem confronting the nations in this respect unless they deal drastically with such competition.

"The American plan is based on halting competitive building. Two alternatives were clear to the farmers of the American plan from the outset. One was that competition must go on. The other was that competition be stopped, and that naval armaments be limited on a basis of the existing naval strength of the powers. We could not see how we could do otherwise than to allow the three naval powers their present strength. It would not have been equitable to reduce the strength of one and not of another. It would not have been equitable to increase the strength of one and not another, and besides such increase would be in the direction of continuing instead of stopping competitive building.

"The ratio of tonnage embodied in the American plan is what we found in the proportional strength of the British, American and Japanese navies. The ratio was not based on the supposed needs of the nations. Every nation has a different conception of its naval needs. We found three powers with certain relations of existing strength which we sought to preserve. We took the capital ship as the yardstick of measurement and cut down the forces used for offensive warfare, preserving the existing ratio of strength in the forces remaining for defensive purposes.

"The plan would leave each nation a navy ample for defensive purposes but with a limited number of fighting ships which constitute aggressive weapons. The allowance of capital ships for Japan is regarded as extremely liberal. Japan is allowed more than her existing strength in capital ships.

POSITION IS SOUND.

"If one nation wants to change this provision and another nation wants some other concession, the first thing you will know, competitive building will not be halted, but will continue. You can't stop competition if one nation is allowed to go ahead of another. This is a sound position which undoubtedly is approved by public opinion, not only in this, but other countries. The public is convinced that the way to end competitive building is to end it. If we don't stop some time we never will stop. If we are not actually going to stop we shall have to try some other plan."

It was stated, however, that there is room for discussion as to the larger allowance of auxiliary craft desired by Japan for defense purposes.

The prime objective is to halt the building of capital ships, but the American delegation is hospitable to suggestions as to the ratio of auxiliaries.

JAPAN OUTLINES POSITION ON PROPOSALS OF CH

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18. — Japan's position on China's proposals is being authoritatively outlined this way:

Japan would like to see the conference adopt a set of principles which, if guaranteeing Japan's "right of existence" would generally and especially insure for China her territorial and, so far as possible, her complete administrative integrity. At the same time these principles could affirm the doctrine of equal opportunity for all.

Japan, for the moment, has no broad program to apply to China, believing that if she sought to impose a broad platform, it would lay her open to suspicion as possibly concealing some hidden purpose. As suggestions arise Japan will explain her own views, which include a well-defined limit concerning China beyond which her spokesmen say they will not go.

HIGH MARK IS KNOCKED OUT.

High Inheritance Levy is Killed by Conferees.

Harding Disappointed Over Surtax Action.

Amended Bill Report to be Presented Monday.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—The Senate amendment proposing to increase the maximum inheritance tax rate from the present 25 per cent on estates valued at $10,000,000 or more to 50 per cent on those of $100,000,000 or more, was knocked out of the tax-revision bill today by House and Senate conferees. This amendment formed a part of the compromise revision program brought forward by the Senate agricultural bloc and agreed to by Republican leaders.

HARDING DISAPPOINTED.

This was the only one of the remaining "high spots" in the came to an agreement today, but bill on which the conferences with instructions voted yesterday by the House, accepted the Senate income surtax maximum rate of 50 per cent. At the White House today it was said President Harding was frankly disappointed by the House action on the surtax amendment and this disappointment was reflected in other administration and some Congressional circles.

The House managers accepted today the Senate plan for taxing insurance companies. This plan provides that life insurance companies shall pay an income tax on investment income at the rate to be fixed for corporations. Mutual insurance companies other than life will be taxed at the same rate on their net income as computed under existing law, while all other insurance companies will pay the corporation tax rate on their net income as shown in statements required to be furnished on standard State forms to State tax commissioners. Other agreements reached by the conferees included:

Struck out the La Follette amendment requiring taxpayers in making their returns to list the tax free securities held by them.

COMPROMISE ADOPTED.

Adopted a compromise amendment exempting from taxation the first $300 of income received by individuals from investment in building and loan associations, the exemption to run for five years from January 1.

Accepted the Senate amendment striking out an original House provision allowing corporations to deduct from their income gifts to charitable organizations provided the total did not exceeded 5 per cent of the net income of the contributing corporation.

Accepted Senate amendments, providing that where banks and corporations pay taxes for their stockholders, they may deduct the amount so paid in making their incom-tax returns. The stockholders for whom taxes were so paid would not be permitted, however, to make a similar deduction in making their returns.

FINISH DUE TODAY.

Accepted a Senate amendment exempting from taxation the rental value of dwelling furnished to a minister of the gospel as part of his compensation.

Accepted a Senate amendment exempting receipts received by individuals from ship owners' mutual protection and indemnity associations, not organized for profit.

Chairman Penrose of the Senate managers said the conferees expected to finish their work tomorrow, but that the amended bill with the conference report probably could not be made ready for presentation to the House and Senate before late Monday.

BRITAIN HALTS WARSHIPS.

Work Ordered Stopped on Four Vessels of Super-Hood Type; Washington Pleased.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, Nov. 18.—The British Admiralty's announcement today that it had ordered the cessation of all work on the four warships of the superhood type evoked a chorus of approval by prominent authorities throughout England.

Vice-Admiral Ballard, in an article published in the Evening News, estimates it will result in an ultimate saving of £50,000,000 Moreover, he said, it means the abandonment of a design embodying the experiences of the late war in favor of a design to be adopted a decade hence, and it is conceivable that the decision may lead to the entire disappearance of capital ships. He thinks, however, that if the armor-plate mills are idle for a decade it will be difficult to start them again, especially as regards their personnel.

APPROVES ANNOUNCEMENT.

Admiral Sir Percy Scott, who warmly approves of the Admiralty's announcement, places the saving it will involve at £100,000,000. He thinks no country will scrap its submarines, except possibly the long-range ones, because he says they are primarily weapons of defense.

W. L. Hichens, chairman of the shipbuilding firm of Cammell, Laird and Company, Ltd., thinks that although it is very disagreeable to armament firms, it is unwise to continue spending money while the outlook favors disarmament. He believes temporarw allowances to the staff would solve the employment problem.

Vice-Admiral Mark Kerr is of a similar opinion, adding:

"We already have sufficient battleships for Europe, although the ships used overseas are not of much use."

STEP JUSTIFIED.

Commander Carlyon Bellairs, who for a time was lecturer at the Royal Naval College, also thinks the step is perfectly justified, "especially from the viewpoint of the psychological effect of a generous gesture when it is most important that each nation show good faith."

"Everything now depends upon Japan," he declared. "There is no question about the good intentions of the American people."

Admiral Sir Cyprian Bridge, retired, asserted that the news was the most promising and cheering for a long time and it looked like the "final defeat of the megalomaniacs and the dictatorship of the material age."

"Considering America's readiness to abandon largely her 1916 program," he added, "I think it only decent that we should make some response."

The Admiralty announced today that it had ordered the cessation of all work on the four battleships of the superhood type. The shipbuilding firms were notified yesterday not to incur any further liabilities on new naval construction until further notice from the Admiralty.

These contracts were awarded only two weeks ago. Officials explained that the practical effect of the Admiralty's order would be the absolute cessation of all warship work pending the outcome of the Washington conference.

The Admiralty order halts work on all the new warships authorized by Parliament. Actual construction had not yet begun although, it is understood, virtually all the preliminary work has been completed.

The four ships were to cost about 32,000,000 pounds sterling in all and the bulk of this sum will be saved by the government.

WASHINGTON PLEASED.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—Decision by Great Britain to stop work immediately on her four capital ships of the super-Hood type was heard with satisfaction today by members of the American armament delegation. They regarded the order for cessation of work announced today in London as indicative of the wholehearted espousal by the British of the principles of the American naval reduction program.

American officials, commenting on the decision, emphasized that Great Britain would suffer less from stoppage of work on the super-Hoods than the United States would if a similar order were issued relating to its 1916 building program. It was pointed out that the super-Hoods virtually were in the "paper stage" while some of the new American ships were nearly completed.

Congressional leaders declared today that there was little prospect of any action in either Senate or House on resolutions designed to stop the 1916 program until the results of the conference are seen. It was pointed out that, under authority of an amendment to the 1916 naval appropriation bill, the President, in event of international agreement, has authority to stop the present program without further authorization from Congress.

TELLS OF LOANS TO AID FARMERS

War Finance Corporation Makes Report.

Cash Actually Paid Out is Over $30,000,000.

Cotton Growers Receive Big Financial Help.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—The joint commission of agricultural inquiry has received a report under date of Nov. 16, 1921, from the War Finance Corporation, showing business done under Section 24 and Sections 21 and 22 of the amendment of Aug. 24, 1921, to the War Finance Corporation Act.

The total loans actually made on which the money has been paid rower amounted to $95,214,906, of $1,976,368 on grain, $3,165,683 on which $15,825,415 was on cotton, live stock and $18,714,844 for agricultural purposes.

The total loans approved, which means loans on which the money has not been actually paid, but is subject to the order of the borrower, amounted to $95,214,500, of which $44,050,000 was on cotton, $26,500,000 on grain, $5,920,015 on live-stock and $18,714,844 for other agricultural purposes.

LOANS MADE LATELY

Loans amounting to $3,2633,567 have been made to co-operative associations without bank indorsement and $2,275,575 to live-stock companies without bank indorsement.

The major portion of these loans have been made within the last three weeks.

It should be remembered that the corporation was not organized for the purpose of making loans contemplated in the amendment at the time the amendment became a law, and that the organization for this purpose had to be built up, which delayed operations on a substantial scale for several weeks.

INFLUENCE IS GREAT.

It should also be remembered that the potential influence of these loans in restoring confidence and inducing a more liberal attitude on the part of banks and bankers over the country toward making loans for purposes of marketing and production of agricultural products is very much greater than is indicated by the actual amount of the loans made or approved.

The corporation has assisted in the organization of new loan companies to make agricultural loans having a capital in excess of $5,000,000. This means added potential lending power in the live-stock and grain-raising States of between $12,000,000 and $15,000,000. The activities of the corporation are now well under way and the amount of loans made and approved may be expected to rapidly increase in the next few months if the present need should continue.

Get-together Dinner Ends Up in Big Row

MODESTO, Nov. 18.—At the annual get-together dinner of the graduates of the University of California and Stanford at the Sylvian clubhouse, tonight, Berkeley graduates rushed the Stanford section and tore a Cardinal pennant from the wall. Stanford graduates, both men and women, then rushed the Berkeley section and a desperate struggle to regain the colors took place. The banquet tables were overturned, dishes scattered about the floor and general havoc raised in the melee. Several of the women were roughly handled before the Stanford members regained the pennant, which had been torn to shreds.

ARBUCKLE NOW FACING JURORS.

shall prove was inflicted only by external force violently applied, and that force the evidence will unescapably show was applied by the man who was alone in room 1219 with Virginia Rappe for that hour, applied, we shall convince you, in an effort to assault her.

"The man who was in that room with Virginia Rappe encompassed her death and in law is responsible therefor. That man was Roscoe Arbuckle, the defendant in this action, and in the name of the sovereign people of the State of California, as whose representative I stand here, I shall ask from you a verdict declaring your reprehension of such deeds, for Virginia Rappe had a right to live."

CALL FIRST WITNESS.

Arbuckle was busily engaged tearing paper into tiny bits. The defense reserved its opening statement and Dr. Shelby P. Strange, acting autopsy surgeon at the time of Miss Rappe's death, was the first witness called to testify.

Dr. Strange testified he found many marks on the body of the girl. Arbuckle slung one arm over the back of his chair and played with his hat. The discolorations were on both legs, on the left side and on both arms. The witness said he found a rupture in the upper back wall of the bladder. He did not form an opinion as to the health of the internal organs. On this point, though, the question was asked by the prosecution, the defense scored for Chief Counsel McNab intends to show that the rupture might have been due to diseased organs.

McNab cross-examined Dr. Strange. He wanted to know if such marks might appear on a body after the death. The witness did not know. He did not know whether or not a tight bracelet on the arm might have caused the larger marks.

"Could not these marks be caused by handling of the body after death?"

The witness stated that possibly they could.

"How can you determine if a bruise is ante-mortem or post-mortem?" McNab asked the doctor.

The witness could not tell whether they were ante-mortem or post-mortem marks.

McNAB IS PLEASED.

A look of satisfaction passed over McNab's face and he settled back in his chair. The prosecution did not like to hear this answer and U'Ren and Friedman buzzed in each of Dist.-Atty. Brady's ears. Roscoe tilted his chin and stroked it.

Dr. William C. Ophuls, professor of pathology at Leland Stanford University, and the State's star witness on medical testimony was the second witness called. He had examined the organs of Miss Rappe a few hours after her death at Wakefield Sanatorium, on September 9. He had noted the marks on the right upper arm, on the left leg and the left thigh. He remembered no other marks.

He had found a small hole about one-eighth of an inch in diameter in the center of an inflamed spot on the outer surface of the bladder. In the inner wall of the organ he had found a rent about one and one-half inches long in a corresponding position with the outer small hole. He was convinced that Miss Rappe died of acute inflammation of the peritoneum, and that it was caused by the rent in the bladder.

A painful look clouded Arbuckle's face again. He was tearing a sheet of paper into little bits.

The organ, Dr. Ophuls stated, was unusually small for a woman of Miss Rappe's size. He had found no external evidence of violence on her body. He found her in a condition similar to that of married women.

"The organ was distended and the presumption would be that a certain amount of force had helped the rupture, though there are cases of similar rupture without additional force," he concluded.

AID FOR DEFENSE.

The defense attorneys smiled pleasingly. The prosecution frowned. Their star expert witness was giving valuable aid to the defendant.

The questioning was resumed by Nat Schmulowitz, junior member of the defense battery. Dr. Ophuls could not determine if the character of the tear indicated that force had been used. He admitted it was quite possible the tear was the result of muscular contraction.

Schmulowitz drew from the witness an admission that the rupture could have been caused not alone by external force, but by one of three causes. These were a spontaneous rupture, a rupture by muscular contraction, or a rupture caused by the application of external force on the abdomen.

Heretofore the contention of the prosecution has been that the tear in the organ could have been caused only by external force applied.

The first inning of the Arbuckle trial was won by the defense.

The third witness was Francis La Tulipe, architectural expert for the police department, who introduced drawings he had made of the rooms where the fatal party was held. Court was then adjourned until tomorrow morning.

At the close of the early session the jury will vote whether or not Saturday afternoon session is to be held. Evening sessions will be held next week.

The first witnesses to be heard tomorrow morning will be Miss Grace Halston, an autopsy nurse at Wakefield Sanitorium. Dr. Arthur Beardsley, house physician at the St. Francis Hotel, and George Bloom, who will introduce photographs of the body of Miss Rappe taken after death, showing the disputed marks.

JURY COMPLETED.

The jury was completed this morning. It consists of seven men and five women. When the morning session opened eleven of the jurors had been accepted as unbiased.

Andrew Granfid, a tire salesman, who was examined the preceding day, was excused because he stated he had an opinion that Arbuckle was innocent, an opinion he would set aside for one of guilty if the evidence was strong enough. Gavin McNab, Arbuckle's chief counsel, permitted him to be excused.

Thomas Kilkenny, a retail candy dealer, took his place. He was accepted by prosecution and defense and the jury was completed.

"Mr. Clark, swear the jury," Judge Louderback instructed.

Next came the choosing of a thirteenth juror to serve as an alternate in the event of any member becoming incapacitated. Andrew S. Milluovich, a restaurant owner, was biased in favor of the defense and was excused. Stephen E. Hopkins, a paper salesman, then was accepted.

JURY IN CUSTODY.

The jurors were informed that throughout the trial they would be in the custody of the Sheriff; that they were to be locked up following every session of the trial. Bailiff McGovern and Mrs. Lizette Ryan were sworn in as the chaperons for the jurors.

The thirteen jurors finally were selected after forty-three members of the panel had been examined. Of the thirteen women on the panel, twelve were examined and of this number five were accepted. Four of the women are married. Only one of them has children—three daughters. The fifth woman, though she appears older than the others, is unmarried.

One of the women is a member of social and literary clubs, the unmarried one. Another woman has dabbled in politics. She's a Democrat; so is McNab, the defense's chief counsel. One is the wife of a lawyer.

The jury consists of the following persons:

August Fritze, sales manager; John J. H. Dierkes, former liquor dealer; Henry J. Reet, expert accountant; William H. Torpey, retired business man; Clarence C. Sayre, contractor; Arthur M. Crane, powder expert; Mrs. Helen M. Hubbard, attorney's wife; Mrs. Kitty L. McDonald, mother of three daughters; Mrs. Dorothy O'Dea, salesman's wife; Mrs. Deline M. Nelson, housewife; Miss Louise E. Winterburn, literary woman; Stephen E. Hopkins, alternate juror, paper salesman.

BIGAMY IS CHARGED.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

FRESNO, Nov. 18.—A formal complaint charging Mrs. Maude Bambina Delmont Hooper, star witness in the Arbuckle case, with bigamy, was filed in the Madera Superior Court by Dist.-Atty. Green this afternoon. The complaint is based upon Mrs. Delmont's marriage in Madera February 26 to Cassius C. Woods, at a time when she is alleged to have only an interlocutory decree of divorce from James Hooper. The interlocutory decree was granted in Los Angeles Jan. 8, 1921.

Facts in the case came to light in Fresno when Woods was granted an annulment of his marriage with Mrs. Delmont when she acknowledged, according to court officers, that she was aware of the fact that she was violating the law at the time she married Woods.

In granting the annulment, Judge C. E. Beaumont urged the prosecution of Mrs. Delmont on a criminal complaint. Mrs. Delmont's hearing will be so arranged as not to interfere with the Arbuckle case. She has been subpoenaed in the Arbuckle case, and is believed to be in San Francisco.

A Thanksgiving Day dinner your friends will talk about for months. You will remember for years, may be achieved by means of the following suggestions which were gathered at Vignolo-Giacomino's, 177 North Spring street, the home of the finest grade of imported and domestic goods obtainable.

You will have an appetizer naturally, so why not small rounds of toast with caviar or anchovy paste—W. and B. Truffles is the brand. Suppose you follow this with pate de foie gras. This comes in terrine and is wonderfully fine. Then don't forget "Diablo" a French hors d'oeuvre the best obtainable—every one finds this appetizer particularly appealing, follow with an entre of grilled mushrooms in butter, served hot on toast, also.

To garnish the turkey, there are mushrooms in olive oil—these are nice for chicken and meats, too, and as a relish if you prefer. Mackerel in wine sauce is something still more different as are the miniature ears of corn put up in vinegar—French, of course, and a distinct novelty. Raviolis in chicken sauce have an appealing taste, you will find them, oh, so good! And for sweets there are gaily wrapped confections in tinsel paper in colors of the rainbow—called Italian saimones, Gianduyos chocolatines, which will bring to a fitting end a meal which will leave you entirely at peace with the world.

You won't forget to buy Castruccio Brothers virgin olive oil, easily distinguished by the Red Cross in the middle of the seal, when making your next purchase of this very important adjunct to every woman's pantry. Vignolo-Giacomino, 177 N. Spring, are the direct importers of the splendid oil. If your grocer hasn't it, phone them at Pico, 130 or 12811.

Good old ice cream! How often it comes to our rescue and averts a positive calamity when a dessert turns out a failure and we are positively panicky until we remember Hughes ice cream can be bought at any of the dealers in such a host of combinations of flavors. Their orange ice cream is particularly worthy of special mention—orange being typical of California.

Perhaps you know that Mower's Hardware Co. have all the newest household utensils a woman's heart could wish for! They carry those Savory Roasters which we women are so interested in because they are seamless, self-basting and self-browning. Their address is 933 W. Seventh.

Something Different in Soup.
Shell three pounds of roasted peanuts, rub off the dry brown skins, pound the nuts into a smooth paste. Put this paste in a saucepan and gradually stir into two quarts of boiling water. Season with salt and cayenne pepper. Let it simmer gently until it thickens, stirring it occasionally to prevent burning, and then serve.

Turpentine and spirits of ammonia, half and half, shaken hard together and added to the wash water, will make easier the cleaning of colored woolens.

Just to show you how beneficial the drinking of milk is for the growing child, let me tell you what they are doing in the schools in New York State. Little personal notes are sent to the parents of these little people, saying that a certain small sum of money brought by the pupil each week will insure their receiving a half-pint of milk each morning to drink at recess. The plan has been given a trial and received such unanimous approval that I wish we could adopt it here and give the contract to the L. A. Creamery because of the rich, pure, sanitarily bottled milk which they sell. Are you a customer of theirs?

Be thankful for a "one cost" automobile varnish which the Frederick O'Brien Co. makes and the United Wholesale Paint Co. sells at 639 S. Main, first of all because the paint dries in a day, making your car just as "swank" in appearance as the next man's—secondly because all paints, varnishes and wall papers at the United Wholesale Paint Co. are sold at prices we all can afford to pay.

You know where the Powell Catering Co. is, don't you? 214 S. Western. It will be well worth your while to stop in and see the fruit cakes which were made especially for the feast of next Thursday. Oh, my, but they are good, and not expensive, either.

Your last chance! (as the speaker would shout) to decide whether you want all or part of the Thanksgiving Day dinner cooked by the Wilshire Kommunity Kitchen, 232 S. Western, is this week. Home cooked? Of course! And delicious? Well, rather! Phone number 550313. You know the rest!

Good old pumpkin pies and mince meat that you never need question is the Food Shop's treat for Thanksgiving. Address? 121 south Western.

You have missed half your life if you haven't seen F. Suis One's new shop at 969 W. Seventh. Adjectives describing the beautiful interior have not been discovered, for before such dazzling bits of rare old Chinese antiques, one becomes speechless and just gasps at the grandeur displayed. Have you ever seen a more artistic shop? All in such perfect taste, too, and as though just the privilege of making these treasures your own were not enough, a further inducement comes in the form of a sale—in baskets—just the thing for Christmas presents. Don't neglect to take advantage of this offer, will you! You will never cease regretting it if you do.

I went in raptures over artichokes because she served with them Jevne's mayonnaise dressing which made them a hundred times more delicious in flavor—Jevne's Mayonnaise would improve anything it is put on anyway—it's ready to serve, you see, no small item in these days of hustle and bustle. MENNONITES TO LEAVE CANADA.

Religious Sect Will Settle in Mexico.

Persecuted During War, Claim of Leaders.

Believe in the Doctrine of Nonresistance.

EL PASO (Tex.) Nov. 18.—One of the largest migrations of Christian people of modern history is that of about 200,000 Mennonites, 50,000 families, from Canada to Mexico, which will begin in December. Their trek is expected to last two years.

The Mennonites for the last year have been looking for a new home, claiming unjust treatment in Canada during the World War. Eight nations have invited them. Land "sharps," "boomers" and others have tried to influence them.

After a dozen trips to Mexico, during which representatives conferred with President Alvaro Obre- almost decided to settle in Mexico. Immigration service, the leaders almost decided to settel in Mexico. Then editorials from various sources, save Mexican, declared the Mennonites were "making a mistake," that religious freedom which they have sought could not be guaranteed them under the Mexican constitution. Another trip was made to Mexico and State and national governments assured the Mennonites that they could worship God as they pleased, that they could hold all the tenets of their religion and could enter the country and make their permanent home.

OPPOSED TO WAR.

Canadian Mennonites hold the same belief as early members of the sect who settled in the United States—that of nonresistance. The Mennonites, in defending their belief, declared that they suffered less in the early days at the hands of the Indians than did others who waged warfare against the savages.

The Mennonites still refuse to enter any war.

Another peculiar custom of these people is the washing of feet. They say that the command of Christ to the woman to wash His feet stands on the same spiritual level as His acts of distributing food and drink to the hungry and thirsty. To the Mennonites the story related by St. Luke is comparable to the ones other Christians regard, including the sacrament of communion.

Community property is another belief of some Mennonites, although it is not general. The members of the sect co-operate in building roads, schoolhouses and churches.

GET OPTION ON LAND.

The removal of the Mennonites to America came about when William Penn had been granted land for his Quaker followers. He was told of Mennonites who had fled from Germany to Holland and his Quakers came to their aid. The Quakers are credited with helping them financially and in colonizing parts of Ohio, Indiana, Kansas, Nebraska and South Dakota. Later, colonies were established in Saskatchewan and other parts of Canada. During the last year a few of the sect have settled in Florida.

For years there were fourteen independent bodies of Mennonites, but years ago the sect was reunited.

The Mennonites will settle in Chihuahua and Durango, principally in the former State. Options have been taken on land in both States and improvements are being made on one large tract, the Bustillos hacienda, or ranch, near Bustillos and Chihuahua City. The colonists have paid 35,000 pesos to hold this tract, the money being on deposit to the credit of the Zuloaga family, heirs of the large land owner, Carlos Zuloaga. The purchase price is 600,000 pesos.

HOME SHORTAGE OVER MILLION.

But Outlook for Building is Very Good, Declare Contractors.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 18.—There is a shortage of approximately 1,200,000 homes in the United States, but the outlook for building activities is good, according to members of the commission of the Associated General Contractors of America, who were here, yesterday.

RAILROADS CANNOT COMPETE WITH SHIPS.

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—Steamship rates from Atlantic Coast points via the Panama Canal to the Pacific Coast are so much lower than railroad freight rates that the roads cannot compete with the ocean routes unless the Interstate Commerce Commission grants the petition for reduced land tariffs, Paul D. Hastings, of the rate committee of the Transcontinental Freight Bureau told the commission's examiner today.

BEER BANNED AS MEDICINE.

Lid is Put on by Senate Vote of 56 to 22.

Measure Puts Teeth in Dry Law, Say Friends.

Now Goes to President, Who Soon Will Sign.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—The brief days of medical beer were considered numbered today, when the Senate, by a vote of 56 to 22, finally adopted the conference report on the antibeer bill. With legislative action concluded, the bill, fought over for months, goes to the President, who is expected to give it his approval within the ten-day period. It was thought possible there might be a few days' delay, while an opinion as to its constitutionality was received from the Attorney-General.

Until the President signs the bill, manufacture and sale by physicians' prescriptions will continue, the Treasury Department announced, but in all quarters the lease on life for medical beer was not placed beyond ten days, although the beer ban went down only a few weeks ago with the issuance of the Treasury's beer regulations.

SHARP CLASHES.

Prohibition advocates and opponents clashed sharply during the final discussion. The line-up of the bill's opponents included twelve Republicans and ten Democrats, while thirty-three Republicans and twenty-three Democrats supported it.

The Republican opponents were Senators Brandegee, Dupont, Edge, Johnson, La Follette, Lodge, McLean, Penrose, Phipps, Shortridge, Wadsworth and Weller.

The Democrats were Senators Broussard, Gerry, King, Pomerene, Ransdell, Shields, Stanley, Underwood, Walsh of Massachusetts and Watson of Georgia.

Two others, Senators Reed, Democrat, Missouri, and Moses, Republican, New Hampshire, were paired against the bill.

Thirty-three Republicans and twenty-three Democrats supported the measure.

NULLIFIES PALMER RULING.

The bill will set aside the ruling by former Atty.-Gen. Palmer, who, two days before he retired, advised the prohibition enforcement officials that there was nothing in the Volstead Act to prohibit the prescription of beer and light wines for medicinal purposes.

The legislation has been before Congress since last June. The House accepted the compromise reached by the conferees in August, but there followed a bitter controversy in the Senate waged by a small, but determined, group, who contended that the bill struck a fatal blow at personal rights because it permitted search and seizure without warrants. The first draft of the measure authorized the search of private homes without warrants, but this feature was eliminated in conference.

The bill limits physicians to 100 prescriptions for vinous and spirituous liquors each three months, and specifies that not more than a quart of spirituous or vinous liquors, containing in the aggregate not more than one-half pint of alcohol, may be prescribed for one person in ten days.

Importation of liquors is barred by the bill until the supply on hand in the United States shall no longer be sufficient to meet the current need for nonbeverage uses.

It also gives the courts of Hawaii and the Virgin Islands jurisdiction in the enforcement of the national Prohibition Act as well as the bill passed today.

NEW YORK TOO MUCH FOR FOCH

It's a Tired Marshal Who Crawls to Bed After a Hectic Day.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—A tired marshal of France stole away to rest tonight long before New York's bedtime, terminating the first hectic day of a three-day visit to America's largest city.

There was talk of canceling, or at least curtailing the great projected swing through the Far West, but Marshal Foch would not hear of it. For, arduous as his tour has been, the marshal avers he has enjoyed every minute of it and is eager to see more of this wonderland.

REACH COMPROMISE OVER WHITE LEAD.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

GENEVA, Nov. 18.—The International Labor Conference today reached a compromise in the fight of several days' duration on the use of white lead in the manufacture of paint. The compromise was contained in a proposed convention providing that white lead be limited to 2 per cent of the ingredients of paint to be used for exteriors, that white lead be prohibited entirely from paints for interiors, that women and children under 16 years of age be not employed where white lead is used in the manufacture of paint and that countries now using white lead be given six years to comply with these regulations.

The American Negro's Place As Pres. Harding Sees It

The courage of a Republican President in going into the very heart of the South—where the negro question is bitterest, where political and social equality are denied the black man, but where the fundamental right to earn a living is more freely given than in the North—and telling an audience of whites and blacks just where the two races should enjoy equality, and where not, arouses the admiration and condemnation of the Southern press.

This speech, delivered during Birmingham's semi-centennial celebrations, declares the New York Globe, is "the most important and the most intelligent statement of the right approach to the negro problem sponsored by any public man in a generation." The Birmingham News hails the President's address as "a message of vital importance to the South, the nation, and the world," and states that "it gave the South a wholly new vision of the clear-headed, thoughtful courage of the man."

On the other hand, the President's address was "tactless" and "a violation of the proprieties" in the opinion of the Birmingham Post, and the Little Rock News fears that his words will "make the ignorant and vicious of both races more vicious." "It irritates the South to be lectured on its alleged ill-treatment of the negro," says the Nashville Banner, while the Montgomery Journal remarks that "the South resents interneddling, whether that intermeddling comes from high or low."

Turning to the negro press, we find enthusiasm over the President's Birmingham speech tempered in some quarters by dissatisfaction with what he said about social equality. The Baltimore Afro-American says that the speech "is being criticized by the colored people because it promises the colored race too little, and by the white people because it promises too much." This negro paper is disappointed because he subscribes to "the white South's view of social equality," which means "intermarriage laws, jim-crow street-cars and railways, no political offices for colored people, and discrimination at every point of contact between the two races."

Do not fail to read this very important news-symposium in THE LITERARY DIGEST, this week, November 19th. It presents public opinion upon the negro race question from all angles and from all sections of the country.

FOOTBALL and LATE SPORTING NEWS

Stanford and California Dedicate the Cardinals' New Stadium at Palo Alto Today

BEAR VICTORY CERTAIN AS DEATH AND TAXES.

Stanford is Not Given a Ghost of a Chance in Today's Grid Classic, but Low Score is Expected.

BY WILLIAM WARDE FOWLER
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 18.—It is pretty generally admitted that things are going to happen to the Stanford football team tomorrow afternoon. Death and taxes, usually considered safe and conservative bets, are now taking second and third places with the outcome of the Bear-Card struggle heading the list of certainties.

Even the "football experts" are omitting the customary "of course, if" paragraph on the end of their discussions, and are remarking flat footed that the Stanford eleven is going to be smeared from here to farther orders. None of them are calling attention to dope-upsets of former years. "If the earth should open up and swallow California's first and second teams the Cards might have a chance," is the way most of them have it doped out.

A REAL GAME.

And in spite of all that, 55,000 people are planking down their cash to see it happen, and these pop-eyed fans aren't making the trip just to see Stanford's new stadium. They're paying for an honest-to-goodness football game and they'll get it, whether the score's 10 to 0 or 100. The Cardinals have some large, meaty young men in their line-up, and during the course of getting licked they'll provide some thrills for the opposition and the customers.

"Don't get the idea that we are going into this game with the sole purpose of holding down the score," says Coach Gene Van Gent of Stanford, "we are going in to win."

This, with Andy Smith's assertion that he looks for a low score and a close game, ought to indicate a fight.

The California players took things easy this morning, and early in the afternoon were hustled down to San Jose for a good night's rest. With several thousand "old grads" in town, all anxious to get over to Berkeley and instruct the "wonder team" to "get in there and twist 'em up like we did back in 1918," Andy Smith is taking no chances. The entire squad skipped out quietly and is probably snoring right now.

Down at Palo Alto Van Gent's players ambled around the lot a couple of times to keep in shape, took a speculative squint at the sky and turned in.

DIRE THREATS.

But while everything is calm and serene in the rival football camps, the California and Stanford student bodies are muttering dire threats at one another and trying to think up some lawful way to cut each other's throats. The ancient rivalry between the two schools is hitting new high marks with red paint, and airplanes lending pith and moment to the excitement. When the Bear students climbed out of bed early yesterday morning they found their big "C" behind the Berkeley campus painted a violent crimson. Late yesterday afternoon as the sun was sinking out of sight, a big airplane whizzed down over the fifty-foot pile of lumber that was to be Stanford's bonfire later

MONROVIA CLINCHES THE TITLE.

Defeats Franklin in Final Game of Season and Wins Central League Honors.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

MONROVIA, Nov. 18. — Monrovia, 7; Franklin, 0. The Wildcats scratched their way to glory this afternoon when they outfought, out-kicked and out-gamed Franklin High for the title to the Central League Championship. The solitary score came in the fourth quarter of a bitterly battled game when Eddie Shaw, Monrovia's speedy colored halfback, caught a long forward pass of Franklin's and ran sixty yards for a touchdown. Bronson kicked goal.

Even in weight and strength the two championship contenders fought foot by foot over the middle of the field. At no time was either goal seriously menaced until Shaw made his spectacular dash down the north side of the gridiron with the whole Franklin team striving to lay hands on his fleeing back. Coffin, Monrovia quarterback, should be credited with a lot of head work in his handling of the Wildcats. He saved his men wherever possible and made Franklin pour out her strength in hard-won yardage. Brownson's boot sending the sphere out of danger again and again.

Jones and Olsson, Monrovia ends, were nearly always well down under the punts often downing their man in his tracks.

For the Wildcats the Shaw brothers, Ed and Ted as halves, starred with Bill Bronson fullback. In defensive playing Bender at left tackle caught the ball behind the line time after time. "Turk" Anderson, Wildcat right tackle, played a brilliant game and proved to be the most deadly tackler on the field.

The lineup:

CONFERENCE SEASON IS FINISHED TODAY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—The Western Conference football season will close tomorrow with virtually every position in the standing of the teams dependent on the results of the five championship contests scheduled.

Indications are Iowa and Ohio State will finish in a tie for the championship. At the bottom Illinois, the Northwestern and Indiana are grouped in a tie for last places.

Ohio State will send its eleven against Illinois at Columbus and Iowa faces Northwestern at Evanston, games the leaders each should win.

LINCOLN SITS ON JEFFERSON.

Busts Up City League Tie by Mauling Democrats.

Pete Thompson Wins Game Almost Single Handed.

Lareneta Features With Spectacular Runs.

BY "CHUCK" WEST.

Jefferson's sky-rocket football corporation, which has been twinkling around in the heavens for the greater part of the season, came to earth with a dull thud yesterday afternoon on the home grounds with Lincoln High on top, 21 to 7. The Railsplitters simply battered the Democrats into submission, using Pete Thompson as a battering ram, and left no doubt in the minds of the spectators as to the relative strength of the two teams.

SCRAPPY DEFENSE.

Capt. Lareneta of the Democratic eleven played brilliantly in spite of the poor support of his team-mates, tearing off his usual collection of end runs, and putting up a scrappy defense. He tallied Jefferson's lonesome touchdown on a trip around left end in the second quarter.

Lincoln began a march down the field immediately after Jefferson kicked off, Thompson, and Morgan plowing through the line, while Dyer skirted the ends to vary the monotony. After their opponents had backed them up to their 1-yard line, Jefferson's men began to fight, and successfully staved off the Railsplitters' initial attack. They only postponed the inevitable, however, for after Nick Kerwin had punted from behind his line Tommy Davis's eleven once more bucked to the goal posts, and a pass from Thompson to Boles counted a touchdown.

REPEAT IT.

The Railsplitters repeated in the second quarter, with Pete Thompson carrying the ball across, but suffered a relapse immediately after. End runs by Lareneta and Gannon took the leather right up the field, and across the Orange and Black goal line.

This was the Jeffersonians' last stand, Lincoln running them ragged in the second half, and rolling up the cruel count of twenty-eight digits before the slaughter was stopped. Thompson made three of the four touchdowns, and started the pass that ended in the fourth.

Boles at end, Justin Cornwall at tackle, and Center Smits put up an excellent brand of football in Lincoln's line, while Krack showed up conspicuously among the Jefferson forwards.

NEW HAVEN (Conn.) Nov. 18. Their offense was in permitting tickets for the Princeton game issued to them to get into speculators' hands.

PIONEERS CROWN POLY.

L. A. High School Football Eleven Wins From Ancient Rival by Decisive Score.

Los Angeles High School drubbed Poly High, 28 to 0, before a crowd that literally taxed the seating and standing capacity of Bovard Field yesterday afternoon. As Manual won from Hollywood, the game did not count in the battle for the City League championship. The Pioneers lost their big chance when Manual celebrated Armistice Day by beating them, 21 to 7.

Too much Field Thompson in the first quarter spelled Poly's undoing before the game had hardly sprouted. The Blue and White's clever left halfback flashed down the field for two runs of sixty-five and seventy yards, each resulting in a touchdown. This early blow dazed Poly and before the Mechanics recovered the Pioneers slipped over another score, making 21 points all told in the initial period.

For the rest of the game the fight was fairly even. L. A. High couldn't score in the second or third quarters, but managed to shove a fourth touchdown over in the final period by the aerial route. A toss to Dennis for a gain of twenty-five yards put the where Simpkins went over on a split buck.

ball on the one-yard line, from Poly fought doggedly all the while and had one good opportunity to score in the second quarter. Solomon heaved a forward pass to Erhardt, who galloped thirty-five yards to the L. A. five-yard line before he was downed. The ball was brought back, however, when the umpire detected a Poly man holding in the line.

Thompson's runs were the high spots of the game. His first one was for seventy yards and was the result of L. A.'s initial attempt to advance the ball from scrimmage. Thompson slid off Poly's left tackle and was never headed. His second run was made over the opposite tackle.

Cole made L. A. High's third touchdown by recovering a blocked punt behind Poly's goal line. The press accommodations, as usual, were rotten, everyone but newspaper men occupying seats in the press box.

MANUAL BUFFETS HOLLY.

Artisans' Smashing Offensive too Much for the Foothillers; Blewett and Bond Feature Contest.

Willie Blewett, his brother Richard, combined with the nifty work of Bobby Bond, McLain and most of the other Manual Arts players, was about all that was needed, with the exception of the few clever plays and the forward passing, for the mighty Manual eleven to oust Hollywood, 49 to 16, yesterday afternoon. The lopsided game was held at Hollywood Field and was one of the closing games of the local high school league.

The Manual line proved a smashing one from the first and the opening touchdown was scored shortly after the starting whistle. Bill Blewett did the trick and kicked goal. Bond soon after carried the ball on a long end run to the 1-yard line, leaving it to Bill to "buck 'er through" for the touchdown. Bill did, and kicked goal. Bond followed in a fifty by snagging Bill's short pass over the line and running 25 yards to a touchdown. The quarter ended, 21 to 0, in Manual's favor.

PRETTY PASS.

Hollywood strengthened a bit in the second frame and the prettiest pass and the longest completed pass of the game came about. Dorsey heaved a pass fully 40 yards and it was yanked out of the air by Salter, the left end. He ran the few yards to the goal line without any interference and touched down for the only touchdown for the game for Hollywood.

The Tollers started their hog wild parade all over the chalked field in the third quarter. Bond again snapped onto a short pass over the line and with perfect interference ran 60 yards to a touchdown. Bill Blewett naturally kicked goal—he's a master at that trade. Manual, then by another aerial attack, got to within scoring distance and Rich Blewett plowed through the Hollywood line for a touchdown. Bill kicked goal.

MANY BREAKS.

There were many breaks in the game and it was one of these kittles that dame fortune tossed on the field that Rhodes grabbed. He intercepted a forward pass, heaved by Dorsey, and ran 30 yards to a touchdown. Bill kicked goal. The final Manual touchdown was made by Rich Blewett. He intercepted a pass at the 15 yards and skirted the line far to right, then hooked in and planted the pill, making Bill's kick to be made from an easy angle. The kick was made.

Dorsey's great dropkick from the 40-yard line was one of the real bright spots of the game. He achieved this boot in the closing minutes of the game.

IDAHO CAPTURES FOOTBALL TITLE FROM MISSISSIPPI.

The gridiron stars of the dreadnaught Idaho, meeting the fast eleven of the Mississippi on the Trona plant grounds yesterday morning, outplayed the latter at every stage of the game and won the championship of the Pacific Fleet for 1921, with a score of 20 to 6.

On four different occasions the Mississippi players had the game handed to them on a silver platter, but overlooked the opportunity on each occasion when the recovery of Idaho fumbles would have meant a touchdown. Ensign Wilkie, all-American tackle of the Mississippi eleven, played a splendid game and was one of the few men on the Mississippi eleven who showed real form.

NO SCORING.

The first quarter was scoreless, although the Idaho had the ball dangerously near the Mississippi goal line when the whistle blew. Laubaugh carried the ball over for the first touchdown after two line bucks by Carella in the second stanza had put the ball on the 1-yard line. Sallinger failed to convert.

The third quarter, while scoreless, was the high spot of the game. Laubaugh and Carella completed a pretty 25-yard pass for the Idaho, only to lose the ball on the 15-yard line when Sallinger bobbled an attempted punt.

PERFECT PASS.

On the next play Wilkie dropped back and shot the ball forty-five yards in a perfect pass. Graham was not there, however, to complete the play. Wilkie attempted more than a dozen long passes during the last two quarters. All the shots were close to perfection as far as passing was concerned but the ends were always absent when the ball reached their territory.

All the Idaho's scores were made on straight football, their completed passes not counting on ground gained. Burdette, Idaho's tackle, played a great defensive game until taken out in the last quarter with his face covered with gore. Capt. Laubaugh of the Idaho eleven was the star of the battle from an offensive standpoint. Several times when both elevents were jumbled together on a line buck, Laubaugh burst out of the mass for long gains.

STANFORD IS READY FOR CROWD

Biggest Batch Ever Seated Outside of the Yale Bowl Expected at Palo Alto.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Nov. 18.—Stanford, on the eve of what promises to be the biggest of the traditional "big games" against California, is ready for the thousands who will pack into the new Stanford stadium tomorrow to witness the clash. Close to 65,000 people, believed the largest football crowd ever assembled outside the Yale bowl, are expected. Until this year "big game" crowds never passed the 40,000 mark.

The stadium, which was hollowed out of the earth with magic like speed during the past summer, has been ready for several days. Long sloping banks of wooden seats are waiting for the blaze of color the crowds and rival rooting sections will bring. On the sides the green shrubbery contrasts with the red trimmings and down on the field the turf is already up but the ground is soft. It is thought this may slow up the game.

Stanford's foemen, the California varsity veterans, visited the stadium today while on their way to San Jose where they will spend the night. The Berkeley men are favored to win without trouble and all in the party expressed confidence they would take the game.

ANCIENT RIVALS READY FOR WHISTLE TODAY

Yale and Harvard to Clash in Battle; Enormous Crowd to Witness the Struggle.

BY ROBERT W. (TINY) MAXWELL
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 18.—It seems that the season has scarcely been under way more than a few days, but tomorrow will be the end of the 1921 campaign for a number of colleges. Some will stage the final on Thanksgiving Day, but within a week football players will be relegated to the sport picture to make room for basketball, baseball and other winter athletics.

On the result of numerous games today hinges the success or failure of the season for quite a few of our big college teams. Harvard will forget the Princeton and Centre reverses if Yale is beaten by Cambridge, previous defeats will mean nothing to Lehigh men if Lafayette's team records in all smeared up and the rout of Dartmouth at Ithaca will be erased if the Green mops up the gridiron with Syracuse on the Polo Grounds.

There will be no big game at Franklin Field, as Penn does not make its final appearances until turkey day with Cornell, but followers of the collegiate game around Philadelphia can witness a battle in which the fur will fly by trekking out to the suburbs and watching Haverford and Swarthmore in the annual fuss at Swarthmore.

In Louisville, Centre will attempt to keep its record unstained in the engagement against Washington and Lee. In New Brunswick Foster Sanford has a chance to make up for defeats by Lehigh, Lafayette, Georgia Tech and Notre Dame when Rutgers goes to the mat against West Virginia.

THREE GAMES.

Out in the West there are three very important conference games.

Southern California Football Title Is at Stake.

ROMANS AND POETS TO MIX AT BOVARD FIELD.

According to Dope U.S.C. Has Big Edge, but the Whittier Boys May Have Something Concealed.

BY PAUL LOWRY.

Coach Gloomy Henderson and his U.S.C. football warriors will tie the prep game at Bovard Field yesterday afternoon on the same place and about the same time will entertain the Whittier Poets today. A lot of folks will be out to see the fun, as the title of Southern California champion hinges on the result.

According to dope U.S.C. should by some sort of lopsided score run all the other southern contenders into the ground, but there have been times when dope has been trampled underfoot by the Whittier Poets. We aren't saying an awful lot, but they are doing a lot of talking and hoping. If prayers and hopes count the Poets will return home with Trojan scalps dangling from their belt and championship hung in the old fish-pole.

GOOD POINTS.

Coach Henderson recognizes that he's in a lot of good points, but the chief worry is the person of Mr. Bo Sargent, and he's right in the strongest kind of a manner. John Boyle, Ohio State, last year's star, meets Illinois at Columbus; Michigan takes on Minnesota at Ann Arbor and Chicago has Wisconsin at Chicago. Ohio State has the best chance for the title to date and a victory over Illinois would clinch the championship. Michigan surprised last year by holding Wisconsin to a tie on the home at Ann Arbor and Chicago's touchdown or something.

Chicago has lost only one game this season and that to Illinois. Stagg has been drilling his squad hard during the last week and has developed a few more open plays which he hopes to spring with success tomorrow.

Of all the games down the state, however, the outstanding attachment is the one between U.S.C. and Harvard. There are a couple of capacity crowd present, which means that more than 30,000 will see the contest. Twice that number would attend if they could, but accommodations which govern the popularity of football have proved even the most modern of stadiums.

Harvard has a chance to win the Big Three championship by a triple tie by beating Yale, but a victory of Yale means undisputed title, which is a thing else again. Yale on

BLUE SEA DEVILS IN HOT TILT.

Motorboat Races for the Nordlinger Cup Trophy Are on for Today.

The Barney Oldfields and Jimmy Murphys of the speedways of the deep blue sea are to let in their clutches and unleash a couple of thousand horse power divided among four boats this morning at San Pedro, when the first heat of twenty-four miles of the annual Nordlinger trophy race is held by the Los Angeles Motorboat Club.

All former speed marks made for this race, a distance of seventy-two miles, and for all other events on the Pacific Coast are expected to be beaten by miles. Never before in the history of the great Southern California classic have such high-powered boats been entered.

LIBERTY POWER.

Two of the boats will be powered with twin liberty motors, each motor equivalent to 400 horse power. Frank A. Garbutt's Mystery VI has a pair of the smooth-running Libertys. Bill Paden's Hurricane also is equipped with the Liberty power plant.

Midway of the flat hull of Commodore Dustin Farnum's boat is a twin Fiat engine of 600 horsepower. Farnum's boat is of the hydroplane type. Paden's craft is also built along the lines of the latest creation in speedboats.

SMALL CRAFT.

The Hacker V-bottom type will be used by Garbutt and Joe Fellows. The latter has the smallest-powered craft of the four, but that's only the half of it. Each season Fellows comes out with some small craft and with just a middling engine installed and either walks off with the consistency trophy or places. He placed last year a field of eight, including two liberty-driven boats and one twin Hall-Scott.

The speed boys are to race over a brand new course today, one that was logged by the local city engineer. It is just off Terminal Island on the ocean side. It is three miles around. The second and third heats of the race will be run tomorrow.

READY TO FIGHT FOR OREGON GRID TITLE.

EUGENE (Or.) Nov. 18.—Final practice was held today by the University of Oregon football team and "Shy" Huntington, head coach, pronounced every man in the squad in fit condition for tomorrow's game with Oregon Agricultural College on Hayward Field. Hayward Field has a seating capacity of 17,000, and it is expected every seat will be occupied.

SABERTOOTH IS AFTER SAGEHEN.

Occidental, Pomona Crash on Gridiron Today.

Tigers Are Slight Favorites Over Blue and White.

Swede Renius Is Back in Oxy Line-up Again.

The Occidental Tiger will make his much-anticipated trip to the Sagehen roost this afternoon when Oxy and Pomona settle their annual gridiron dispute at Claremont, and unless something unexpected happens, he will return to his lair out in Eagle Rock with his appetite appeased, and a Sagehen feather in his cap.

For years the Pomona-Occidental game has been considered one of the big events in Southern California football, and today's battle is creating its usual ripple of excitement among the fans. Coach Pipal has been grooming the Oxy athletes for two months with the down fall of the Blue and White as his motive, and out at the Pomona knowledge factory Coach Nixon is hoping fervently for a Sagehen victory to reward his weeks of labor.

FAVOR OXY.

Occidental's pigskinners will enter the fray this afternoon favorites for the first time in half a dozen years. Although crippled early in the season, the Tigers will put their full strength into the contest today, with the exception of Capt. Rap Powers. A pneumonia bug got the best of the Oxy skipper a short time ago, and Powers will spend the day in the hospital.

Pomona, on the other hand, started the season with a flourish, but has lost a number of strong athletes through injuries lately. Ray Wilson, quarterback, the sensation of the Sagehen squad, is reported as bunged up, and Orlyn Robertson, who performs in the pivot job, is also on the hospital list. While Doughty and Kennedy, backfield men, will be out of the game today, with injuries.

Swede Renius, considered one of the strongest tackles in the south, has been nursing a chipped ankle bone for the past two weeks, but has been renovated sufficiently to permit him to take his customary place on the Occidental line-up.

Following are the probable line-ups:

Occidental—	Position.	Pomona—
Long	L.E.	Diggs
Lee	L.T.	Bowman
Coy	L.G.	E. Dyer
McKinley	C.	Mayer
Hart	R.G.	Baker
Reading	R.T.	Thompson
Logue	R.E.	Dyer
Wright	Q.B.	Lowe
Spangler	L.H.B.	Yocklem (c)
Hall	R.H.B.	Hafer
Lawyer	F.B.	Collins

RIVALS READY FOR WHISTLE.

ure that this is the year. Every opponent on the schedule has been smeared and that includes Princeton. The Eli's have not captured a Big Three championship since 1916.

The Crimson has had two weeks to prepare for the big event. Brown was played and beaten, 9-7, last Saturday by the second-string players, while the regulars enjoyed the game as spectators. This has given Bob Fisher's boys a chance to recover from the bruises and injuries suffered at Princeton and now the squad is said to be in great shape for the onslaught of Mal Aldrich and his playmates.

According to the dope, the Harvard line is better than the Yale first defense, but the splendid running attack of the Blue backs will be enough to offset this. Tad Jones this week has been working on a thorough defense for the forward pass, as the Crimson is expected to use the air often. Buell and Fitt will be watched closely for their kicking ability is feared by the Blue.

Yale looks to the line-plunging ability of Ralph Jordan, the generalship of O'Hearn and his broken field running and the off-tackle end runs and field goal-kicking of Capt. Aldrich to bring home a triumph. The Crimson undoubtedly will be instructed to keep half an eye on O'Hearn all the time. The Yale quarterback has the unusual knack of pulling himself up to almost a dead stop and starting at full speed again. He dodges remarkably well as Tiger tacklers will testify. It took two and sometimes three Princetonians to drag Charlie to mother earth last Saturday.

Harvard has had an exceptionally tough schedule this season and plans already are under way to ease it up for 1922. This year Centre and Princeton were met on successive Saturdays, which is a trifle too hard, and so the game against the southerners for next year has been moved up to two weeks before the contest with the Tigers.

Throwing of Horseshoes is Popular Sport

Probably no pastime on the sport calendar has made such giant strides toward popularity in the past five years as the erstwhile lowly game of horseshoe pitching.

A scant ten years ago horseshoe pitching was a game of barnyards and yokels. Today, every business is represented among its adherents. The "tired business man;" the retired business man, and women and youths o both sexes are taking it up. Newspapers, which a decade ago, ignored it, now grant the ringer-game prominence on occasion. Our President is honorary president of the Long Beach club.

Modernized pitching shoes of steel; and publicity have done this, together with the undeniable merits of the game itself. Among the leaders the sport has become a duel of ringers in which skill, tenacity, courtesy, concentration, guts, endurance and determination are all called into play. In the State tournament to be held at Glendale next week for the State championship, some of the most skillful exponents of the game will be seen in operation and a first-hand impression of the new sport may be gained.

GOLF CHAMP TO COMPETE HERE.

Willie Hunter, British amateur golf champion, will compete in the California open championship tournament in January, according to word from New York. Hunter will arrive in California about December 15.

BEAR VICTORY HELD CERTAIN.

in the night, and touched it off with a couple of incendiary bombs. Card Freshmen managed to save the day, but it was a close shave.

The players themselves are all in excellent shape for the big game. Brick Muller, who has been tied up with a busted leg for several weeks, will not start, but is certain of getting in for a quarter or so before the finish. Muller took part in several strenuous workouts during the week, and will be fit to step in at any time. Stephens and Berkey, California ends, are full of zip and vinegar, and are admittedly the boys Stanford will have to watch. Erb, Toomey, Nichols and Nisbet in the back field are known quantities and will give Stanford's line something to think about.

TEAMWORK COUNTS.

Stanford is in a peculiar situation. Man for man comparison gives the Cards a better look-in than team comparison does. There are many brilliant players on the Stanford team and several of them are being picked to outplay their position. But individual ability doesn't count an awful lot in a game like this, and when it comes right down to a case of teams the Bears have every argument. De Groot is a dangerous man at center and is particularly wicked on defense. Ludeke and Carter are a pair of sweet tackles. But on the ends the Stanford line is undoubtedly weak, no matter how much Mertz and Pershing improve. Wilcox and Schlaudeman are potent factors in the backfield but the fierce tackling of the Bears is apt to slow them up after a quarter or so.

All in all, the Stanford team will probably play better football than it did last year. But the California squad has improved decidedly itself and there you are. Some of them say it will be a close game, some say it will be a slaughter. Take your pick.

IDEAL CONDITIONS.

Conditions will be ideal for the big game. The Stanford stadium is in splendid shape and preparations have been completed to squeeze in 65,000 people. Graduate Manager Fletcher has kept a crew of men at work until the very last minute polishing up the big bowl, and there isn't a thing lacking. Numerous entrances and exits will make the job of handling the big crowd an easy one. Parking spaces have been roped off for thousands of automobiles and special police will handle the heavy traffic.

Weather conditions are made to order. Today was cold and clear and the weather man predicts heavy frost tomorrow morning and cold in the afternoon. The playing field is the only thing that may slow up the game. The turf is new and there is some chance that the charging teams will rip it to pieces before the game is over. Here is the way some of the experts look at the game:

Andy Smith—"I look for California to defeat Stanford decisively tomorrow, yet I hardly believe we can run up as high a score as some of our supporters expect us to."

Capt. George Latham of the Bearcats—"I hope Stanford puts up a fight, we are all set to give them the same brand of medicine we passed out last year."

Walter Christie (Bear track coach)—"California will give Stanford a lesson in trick football tomorrow."

Bob Huebel, coach of the Mare Island Marines—"Stanford will put up a battle, but it won't mean much when California gets started. I look for a corking good game."

Tony Korbel, football official—"I've placed all my loose change on the Bruins."

Capt. Jack Patrick of Stanford—"The Stanford football players realize what they are up against, and every man will play as he has never played before. The result will not be what the experts predict."

Graduate Manager Fletcher—"The men of Stanford are determined to dedicate the new stadium in true Stanford fashion."

Babe Hollingberry, Olympic Club coach—"We have met both California and Stanford this season. Andy Smith's outfit has the class and should run up a big score against their ancient enemy."

Following are the line-ups announced by the coaches late tonight:

CALIFORNIA.	Position.	STANFORD.
Berkey	L.E.R.	Pershing
Barnes	L.T.R.	Lansing
Clarke	L.G.R.	Fayville
Latham	C.	De Groot

Bears Angling for Game With Eastern Team.

BERKELEY, Nov. 18.—University of California's football team hopes to play Yale, Harvard or Princeton in California during the Christmas holidays, L. A. Nichols, graduate manager announced at a student rally today. Nichols said student officials were optimistic regarding negotiations with Yale.

The game, if arranged, will be played either in the new Stanford University stadium or at Pasadena, New Year's Day, under the auspices of the Tournament of Roses committee.

California is a big favorite in the "big game" against Stanford tomorrow and victory for the local players will give them the Pacific Coast Conference title for the second year in succession. Last New Year's Day at Pasadena, California defeated Ohio State, 28-0.

SEALS SPANK SISLER'S SQUAD.

Ty Cobb's Ball Nine Improves With Weather.

Pitcher Lewis Has Laugh on "Georgia Peach."

Northerners' Victory Evens Up the Series.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

Ty Cobb's San Francisco Seals improved along with the weather, and won a ball game in the Long, Hard Winter League, 7 to 3.

This evened up the series, and the way George (Cupid) Putnam was smiling, one might have thought it a personal victory with certain large financial emoluments. George is a good winner, and long practice has made him a pretty fair loser.

SOME TROUBLE.

The game brought Ty great satisfaction, although it was hardly a personal triumph for him in a batting way. He had more or less trouble with his sights, dragging one infield hit out of the fracas, and on another occasion scoring a runner with a sacrifice fly. Five times Mr. Cobb was seen crouching at the plate, and in the seventh he whiffed, missing one of Sam Lewis's abrupt drops by something like a foot. Mighty seldom Ty does that, and it was a real treat for the bleachers.

Ty has a habit of carrying three bats to the plate with him, and then casting two of them aside. Doubtless he would like to swing with all three of them at once, but always his calmer judgment prevails.

LUGS TWO.

George Sisler lugs two bats to the plate with him, but after thinking it over uses only one. A good way to beat a pitcher would be to swing with one bat in each hand, and by whirling rapidly it might be possible to hit the same ball twice, and in that way flatten it.

Whiffing Ty apparently didn't agree with Lewis. At least, he was seen to weaken a little later in the same inning, and gave way to a new pitcher, who was announced as Jones. That is a mighty sweeping statement. This bird might be any one of a million Joneses. Let us strive to be more definite, and not dodge the issue. The announcer's answer to this is that if you call a spade a spade, why not call a Jones and Jones, providing you have a calling hand. Not much sense in that either.

SEEN TO LIMP.

Ty was seen to limp at one stage of the proceedings, and come to think of it, it isn't too late for fresh corn on the Cobb.

Johnny Couch was no easy-gaited piebald Davenport to be roughly ridden and spurred by the Tigers except in the fifth, when with two on, Claude Copper concocted a triple, and scored himself when Kingdon relayed the ball among J. Carlisle Smith's rosy feet. This was all Vernon derived from the mess. San Francisco scored one in the first, and the fifth-inning rally put the Tigers two in front. But the fatal seventh witnessed a distinct triumph on the part of the visitors, when they salted five on a pair of passes, Blue's triple, singles by Chadbourne, Ellison and Yelle, and more errors than we care to recollect even if our recollecter was in good working order.

RULED SAFE.

In this inning O'Connell going from second to third on a rap to Kingdon, was ruled safe at the latter base by Billy Phyle. Mr. Smith promptly walked over and shook Mr. Phyle warmly by the hand. Whether he was congratulating Bill or had just discovered he was in the city, nobody knows. Again J. Carlisle may have simply been feeling Chesterfieldian, providing he smokes that brand.

There should be more of this polite, refined spirit in baseball. When an athlete disagrees with an umpire, instead of spitting in his eye, he should grasp him by the hand. Thus the umps can be gradually killed off without making a fuss about it, a scientist having discovered that hand-shaking is fatal and superinduces a premature burial.

GET POPULAR.

The umps are getting so popular that they may be asked to stand at the grand-stand exit so that all the bugs can shake hands with them when passing out. In that way they can get their thumb prints. Many a citizen would like to take an umpire's hand home with him as a souvenir.

Ducky Holmes had some trouble with his chest protector, and was forced to pause between innings to blow it up. When it was fully inflated Ducky looked like a pouter pigeon. Had Mr. Holmes blown it up the day before there would have been a riot of protest, as there was more wind in the air than the fans could stand anyway. Yesterday we had only the artificial variety. Not only did Ducky blow up his protector but it was reported that out around first base Lou Blue also. The score:

"Prisoner at the bar," said the judge, "will you have trial by judge or jury?"

"By jury, your honor," said the defendant. "I'll take no chance on you!"

"What!" roared the court. "Do you mean to say that I would—"

"I don't mean t' say nothing," said the prisoner, stoutly, "but I ain't takin' no chances. I done some plumbin' work for you last winter."—[Tit-Bits.

"Rastus," said the judge sternly, "you're plain no-account and shiftless and for this fight I'm going to send you away for a year at hard labor."

"Please, Jedge," interrupted Mrs. Rastus from the rear of the court room, "will yo' Honah jes' kinder split dat sentence? Don't send him away from home, but let dat hard labor stand."—[American Legion Weekly.

A Practical Man.

A professor of mineralogy tells of the father of one of his pupils coming to him and saying, "I don't want my boy to learn about strata or dips or faults or upheavals or denudations, and I don't want him to fill his mind with fossils or stuff about crystals. What I want him to learn is how to find gold and silver and copper in paying quantities, sir—in paying quantities."—[Boston Transcript.

PROCEEDINGS TEST ALIEN LAND LAW.

INJUNCTIONS SOUGHT AGAINST INTERFERENCE OF CONTRACTS TO JAPS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 18.—The United States Circuit Court of Appeal took under submission this afternoon two applications for injunctions restraining the State and county officials from interfering with the letting of four-year crop contracts to Japanese in Los Angeles and Santa Clara counties. It is charged the California Alien Land Act would be violated by the contracts and the proceedings are a test of the constitutionality of the law.

Arguing for the State, Atty.-Gen. Webb contended that: "The creation of government and sovereignty of the State has been regarded as dependent upon the soil." He held that California was well within her rights when she banned aliens ineligible to citizenship from the ownership of land.

"As framed this government was designed and builded for the white race and by the white race and so continued until 1845 when the naturalization law was widened to include Africans," he argued. "Citizenship is not given or granted for political reasons at all. It is not in our country wrong to believe that the limits ought not too widely to be drawn."

Attorney Elliott, representing the plaintiffs, urged an early decision. He said that his office was being besieged by farmers worried over their crops and that thousands of acres would be idle or changed over to other uses if the injunction was not granted.

KNEW BANK WRECKED, BUT TOOK DEPOSITS.

CROOKED FUGITIVE PRESIDENT ACCEPTED AGED WOMAN'S PITTANCE.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—Last day depositors of the Michigan avenue Trust and Savings Bank, wrecked by Warren C. Spurgin, its president, have proven the concern was insolvent months before the crash. Mrs. A. Hamilton, a laundress, 60 years old, who earns $20 a month, had managed to save $600. She went to deposit $15 on July 9, but the teller hesitated about taking the deposit and asked her if she did not wish to withdraw her deposit. He finally turned to Spurgin and asked if he should accept the deposit.

"Sure, take the money," said Spurgin. Other testimony shows that Spurgin and others in the bank knew it was crashing down, long before the close came, but accepted deposits just the same.

John W. Worthington and Arthur M. Goldsmith were reindicted by a Federal grand jury today on charges of altering and conspiring to alter a large number of Liberty bonds, stolen in bank raids. Worthington is known as the "wolf of La Salle Street" and Goldsmith is a New York broker.

ANOTHER PLEA FOR PARDON OF DEBS.

MEMORIAL TO PRESIDENT IS HEADED BY WILLIAM ALLEN WHITE OF KANSAS.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18. — Another plea for the immediate pardon of Eugene V. Debs and other persons in Federal penitentiaries for violation of wartime laws was made in a memorial to President Harding today by a delegation headed by William Allen White of Kansas, and including Oswald Garrison Villard of New York, Father John O'Ryan of Washington, Miss Julia Lathrop, Mrs. Charles Edward Russell, William P. Cochran of Baltimore and George M. Lamonte of New York.

"Only in the United States are such political prisoners still confined," the memorial left at the White House said. "The continued imprisonment of these men is a grave reflection upon our cherished freedom of expression and a reproach to our sense of justice."

NAVAL MAN CHARGED IN DEATH CASE

Lieut. Livingston Accused of Resisting Officer at Time Goldstein Was Slain.

As the outcome of an automobile accident and the death of Herman Goldstein, an occupant of one of the cars in a collision, a complaint was issued yesterday by Dep. Dist.-Atty. McClelland, charging Lieut. Harry Livingston, alias Harry Leventon, with having resisted an officer. It was charged by C. E. Miner, a motorcycle officer of Culver City, that the officer, who is attached to the U.S.S. Connecticut, resisted him when he stopped Paul Forman, who was driving the car in which Lieut. Livingston was riding.

The officer says that a struggle followed his attempt to stop the car, and says that his revolver was accidentally discharged. Shortly after he stopped Forman, the latter's car and other machine collided at Washington and Hoover streets.

George Contreras, a District Attorney's office detective, yesterday made an effort to find Lieut. Livingston. At the same time the county grand jury was investigating the affair. Dep. Dist.-Atty. Fitts conducting the inquiry. The investigation was continued until Wednesday.

Renew Effort to Win Liberty for Madalynne

Sheriff Traeger and Dep. Dist.-Atty. Fricke were served yesterday with notice of the petition for a writ of habeas corpus of Mrs Madalynne Obenchain, made returnable Monday by the State Supreme Court before the District Court of Appeal, Division 1.

Arguments on the writ will be heard Monday. The State will be called upon to show cause why Mrs. Obenchain is being held. The arguments are expected to revolve around the question that after the sixty days provided by law the defendant is illegally detained. The defense will press its request that she be released or given an immediate trial.

Meanwhile preparations are being made for the opening of the trial on Tuesday of Arthur Burch, charged jointly with Mrs. Obenchain with the murder of J. Belton Kennedy, young broker. Superior Judge Reeve is clearing his calendar for Tuesday.

Mrs. Obenchain was still confined to her bed yesterday suffering from a severe cold. No visitors were allowed with the exception of Ralph Obenchain, her attorney.

OMAR PICTURE CRUX OF SUIT.

Cinema Producer Seeks to Guard Artistic Ideal.

Would Restrain Corporation from Handling Film.

Persian Anti-Dry is Silent Partner in Action.

Omar Khayyam, the man who made the jug of wine famous, and Ferdinand Pinney Earle, the artist and cinema producer, yesterday joined in a prayer to the Superior Court to keep the Rubaiyat, Inc., from gumming up their joint masterpiece.

More specifically, and in proper legal verbiage, Mr. Earle, who is now a producer, and the well-known Persian antiprohibitionist, ask the court to restrain the corporation known as the Rubaiyat, Inc., from "publishing, distributing or exhibiting" the "Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam," a motion picture produced under the personal direction of Mr. Earle. Although not mentioned in the complaint, Omar is made a party to the action through artistic affinity to Mr. Earle and in defense of his literary reputation.

"ARTISTIC" CLASHES.

Back of the dry legal document filed in the court late yesterday afternoon is a story of a difference of artistic opinion in which bath-tub magnate avocado queens, and various and sundry other persons are said to have clashed with Mr. Earle, who says he is, by virtue of his contract with the corporation, "the master of the show."

Mr. Earle's position, he said, was that he did not desire to simply "take the cash and let the credit go," as Omar put it some time before the organization of the corporation, and that he felt the picture, which is to bear his name as producer, was entitled to be judged by the public on its merits.

The officers of the corporation against whom the restraining order is asked, are Theodore Ahrens of Pittsburg, known as the "bath-tub baron," president; Harbert D. Newcomb, secretary and treasurer, and Mr. Earle, vice-president.

WOMAN IS BLAMED.

Mrs. Queen W. Boardman of 8880 Sunset Boulevard, a stockholder in the company, and said to be the representative of the financial interests back of the venture, is named in the complaint as the person who interfered with Mr. Earle in the cutting and production of the film. Mrs. Boardman, Mr. Earle sets out in the complaint, has no knowledge or experience along those lines.

According to the attorneys and others connected with the case, the interference of Mrs. Boardman with the filming of the picture included alleged insistence on her part to hold pink teas on the sets, while production costs were $250 an hour. The cost of the picture, now said to be almost ready for distribution, is approximately $130,000. A large part of this sum, Mr. Earle says, was spent by him long before Mrs. Boardman or Mr. Ahrens became interested in Omar Khayyam and "Jamshyd's Sev'n-ringed Cup."

According to Attorney Mitchell S. Meyberg, representing Mr. Earle, the action is based on a contract made by Mr. Earle with the corporation, in which he is given the right to direct, edit, title and supervise the film. The copyright on the film, held by Mr. Earle, has never been transferred to the corporation and Mr. Earle feels that he will be injured to a great extent if others were to edit the picture and present to the public their version of Omar instead of that of Mr. Earle.

Mr. Earle particularly resents the attempt on the part of his opponents to "soft-pedal" the wine scenes in the picture, he said. "Imagine Omar saying, 'A keg of near-beer, a loaf of bread and thou,'" he said, wincing with artistic pain.

Neither Mrs. Boardman nor her attorney could be reached last night for their version of the affair. Mr. Newcomb, the only official of the company who could be found, stated that he did not wish to make any statements at this time other than to say that the film is now in the hands of the company. He indicated that a statement would be made later.

Dr. Doran is Shot; Wife on Way to Side.

Dr. J. E. Doran of 921½ Catalina street was shot four times Friday night and struck on the head with a heavy instrument at Alamosa, Colo., according to word received here yesterday. He is at the home of Dr. L. W. Soland in Alamosa, who rendered emergency treatment when Dr. Doran staggered into the Elks' Club Building and collapsed on the floor. He will recover unless complications set in.

A young man who is said to have been with Dr. Doran shortly before he was shot is held by the police in that city. Dr. Doran did not recover sufficiently yesterday to give any account of the manner in which he received his injuries.

Mrs. Doran left at 8 p.m. yesterday for Alamosa, having received a telegram announcing the injury of her husband only one hour before her departure. Dr. Doran came to Los Angeles three years ago. He is a member of the Los Angeles Athletic Club and has a daughter.

DIRECTOR OF ORPHEUS CLUB SERIOUSLY ILL.

Joseph F. Dupuy, director of the Orpheus Club, is seriously ill at his home, 2301 West Twenty-fourth street. He has been confined to his bed for three weeks, and was reported yesterday to be in a slightly improved condition.

ON LONG TRIP ALONE IN BOAT.

Man Starts for South Seas in Home-Made Yawl.

Laughs at Warning That He is Risking Life.

"Library Navigator" May be Gone Three Years.

A "public library navigator," as he has been dubbed by the old salts at Los Angeles Harbor, Harry Pidgeon, youthful yachtsman of the harbor district, set sail in his hand-built 34-foot yawl Islander yesterday on a 3000-mile voyage to the Marquesas. Unaccompanied by man or beast and with only an amateur's knowledge of navigation, Mr. Pidgeon started down the main channel at the harbor for the open sea yesterday afternoon. Shipping men and yachtsmen along the shore cheered him for his daring and from every side came shouts of "Good luck and good weather."

Mr. Pidgeon, who had never been on the sea until three years ago, built a boat without assistance on the shore of Mormon Island at the harbor. Eighteen months were required in the building of the yawl, the youthful skipper taking pains to make his boat as staunch as any of its kind afloat. Materials for his boat cost $1000, it was said.

Soon after the completion of the Islander Mr. Pidgeon and a companion set sail in the summer of 1920 for the Hawaiian Islands, arriving safely at Honolulu twenty-six days out from the local port. The little craft skudded over the seas and before the wind at an excellent clip, her spread of 635 feet of canvas driving her at times faster than ten knots.

PLENTY OF FOOD.

On his trip to the South Sea Islands, begun yesterday, Mr. Pidgeon is taking along a three-months' supply of provisions. The Islander's course will be almost due south for 2000 miles, when her lone skipper and crew will steer a course to the southwest across the equator. The youthful navigator expects to make the Marquesas group in forty days. The Islands are in longitude 140 degrees west and latitude nine degrees, thirty minutes south.

Mr. Pidgeon laughed at the suggestion made to him before his departure that he is taking his life in his hands in venturing across the Pacific alone in such a small craft and on such a long voyage.

"My boat is as seaworthy as any vessel of her class afloat," he said yesterday. "She has no engine and none is needed. With two complete sets of sails, there will be nothing to fear. I have provisions aboard sufficient to last me three months and I expect to do very little fishing on the way, although Jack London said he found fish in abundance in the tropics."

THREE-YEAR TRIP.

Mr. Pidgeon hopes to reach the South Sea Islands by Christmas and plans to remain in the vicinity of the Marquesas until April. With the passing of the typhoon season he probably will set sail for Tahiti and Samoa, he says. It may be three years before he returns to his family and friends in the United States.

The pursuit of pleasure and experience is the motive which has prompted Mr. Pidgeon's cruise and in the long hours when the Islander is becalmed in the South Seas or at anchor in the quiet bays of the islands he will work on his proposed book of experiences. His camera will be used more often than his sextant, he said, and upon his return he expects to show a wonderful collection of photographs.

By sunrise this morning Pidgeon and his tiny craft will be far out of sight of land and the lone skipper will settle down to the long voyage to the south and the west.

Women in Nude Taken at Home, Wife's Charge.

Wilhelm Dehl was in the habit of taking women to his home while his wife was away and photographing them in the nude, according to a divorce suit filed yesterday by Abelina T. Dehl. In her complaint Mrs. Dehl states that Mr. Dehl not only did this on a number of occasions, but would proudly display the products of his art.

She charges further that on one occasion he made a remark to a friend that "all I married was a cook." The complaint states that the couple were married Jan. 15, 1917, and separated Aug. 22, 1921.

RAZING OF LANDMARK IS HALTED.

Destruction of Old Adobe House in Griffith Park is Stopped by Mayor Cryer.

As the result of action taken by Mayor Cryer, the Board of Park Commissioners yesterday ordered work stopped on the razing of the two-story adobe house in Griffith Park, the destruction of which landmark had been opposed by the Native Sons of the Golden West, Park Developer Griffith, son of the late Col. Griffith J. Griffith, who gave the park property to the city, and others. The park board had planned to demolish the building, which was built by Gen. Baldwin at the close of the Civil War for his daughter, Lizzie Baldwin, and is one of the oldest adobe houses in Southern California. The house stands in the so-called Griffith Reservation of seventy-five acres, which had been retained by the Griffith estate, but was lately acquired by the city. The park department had already developed a part of the reservation tract to be added to the golf course.

It is expected that the Mayor will order the house restored to the condition it was in before the park board started to tear it down. The building is located near the Baldwin house.

FEW STEPS SAVE CITY LARGE SUM

Mallard Gets Sewer Pipe for Rush Job by Walking Across Street.

Councilman Mallard walked across the street yesterday from the City Hall to the Public Service Building at 207 South Broadway and as a result of his little journey saved the tax-payers $72,000.

The City Council had ordered a sewer built from Arlington avenue and Exposition Boulevard to Baldona Creek, a distance of 16,000 feet. The new sewer and a treatment plant will relieve the burden on the outfall sewer from this district one-third. The City Council was faced with the necessity of securing the pipe immediately and of digging up the money to pay for it. The discovery was made that the Board of Public Service Commissioners has in reserve more than 16,000 feet of forty-two-inch sewer pipe, and the City Council delegated Councilman Mallard to ask the commissioners and Chief Engineer Mulholland of the Bureau of Water Works and Supply to give the pipe to the city.

It was a difficult assignment and one which the other Councilmen were glad to wish on Councilman Mallard. The Councilman told the commissioners of the necessity for building the sewer at once, and his persuasive powers were so great and his eloquence so winning that he got the pipe.

HAUL SAFE AWAY.

Burglars Steal Two Hundred Dollars from Auto Repair Shop.

Stealing a small safe early yesterday morning from a automobile repair shop at 998 North Broadway, safe-crackers loaded the loot on a truck and after carrying it outside the city limits on the Bishop road, smashed in the doors with sledge hammers. They got about $200 in cash. Police who investigated after the broken safe had been found say the burglars entered the repair shop with pass keys.

LOVE SHOOTING ON BROADWAY.

Husband Avenges With Gun Slur Cast on Wife.

Grabs Victim by Throat and Fires Into Back.

Huge Crowd Sees Tragedy on Downtown Corner.

Sinking his fingers into the throat of Manley M. Sax, 23 years of age, as he was walking through the crowd at Seventh and Broadway at 5 p.m. yesterday, Ira Weiss, 46 years of age, pressed a revolver into his victim's back and shot him down. Weiss then surrendered to the police.

Less than three hours after Sax had proclaimed in a room full of strange men that he was Ira Weiss's wife's lover he lay on a table in the Receiving Hospital with two bullet wounds just above the waist line.

In the same room paying no attention to the wounded man's statement Weiss was held by two police officers. Weiss, distracted by his thoughts of vengeance, sobbed to himself because he had not slain outright the man who had used his wife's name disrespectfully.

"Blood, his blood, that is what I want," declared Weiss as he was led away from the Receiving Hospital to a cell in the City Jail. "He lied like a dog about my wife. He held her up to shame before the world. He robbed her and then he lied. I shot him and then I shot him again. If I had known that he was not dead I would have emptied my pistol into his body. Oh, God, why did I not know that he was still living? Now he may not die." Still crying for the dying man's life, Weiss was locked up.

IN HUGE CROWD.

From statements of Weiss and Mrs. Lydia Weiss, his wife, from police records and from the wounded man himself, Police Detectives Canto and Hawtrey pieced out the facts that led to the spectacular shooting in the middle of a huge home-going crowd of office workers.

Early Thursday morning Sax, who is a jewelry salesman and lives at 1816 West Twenty-fifth street, with his mother, Mrs. Gertrude Sax, was arrested by Police Detectives Johnson and Stalzreide and charged with suspicion of grand larceny. He was arrested after Weiss, also a jewelry salesman, had complained to the police and also to Pinkerton detectives that Sax had lured Mrs. Weiss to a large downtown hotel and then after robbing her of jewelry valued at $1200 and $250 in Liberty bonds, fled. Weiss and his wife both notified the police that Sax had drugged Mrs. Weiss before robbing her.

Taken into custody in another hotel near Seventh and Broadway, where he had registered under the name of P. W. Oliver, Sax was locked in the City Jail. When questioned later by Detective Kirby and an agent from the Pinkerton detectives, Sax denied the charges

McKEE IS LOSER IN PORT TILT

Action to Appoint Harbor Statistician Delayed Over Board Chief's Protest.

The threatened storm in the new Board of Harbor Commissioners broke yesterday when President McKee attempted to get immediate action on the creation of the job of statistician to the board at a salary of $200 or $250 a month, a place for which E. A. Heffner was slated. President McKee urged that the post be created and the place filled at once and said that delay in action is harmful to the board's activities.

Commissioner Richards took sharp issue with President McKee, saying:

"The business of the board had been principally delayed during the past forty-five days by politics." He added that he desires to protest against any attempts to use the board for political ends. Commissioner Richards further protested against any attempt to "railroad" through the appointment of a statistician as "contemptible," on the ground that a promise had been given to the Chamber of Commerce, to steamships agents and others interested that they will be given ample notice to appear before the matter of creating the new place is considered.

Commissioner Richards said that he is willing to vote to take up the matter at the meeting of the board two weeks hence, so as to give notice to all interested to appear. No action was taken, and the matter of the proposed new harbor job was ordered indefinitely postponed by the votes of Commissioners Richards and Kibele over the protest of President McKee. The matter of appointing a port warden was also laid over.

The executive committee of the Municipal League at its meeting yesterday adopted a resolution strongly approving the stand taken by Commissioners Richards and Kibele "in insisting upon merit and efficiency as the basis and paramount requirement for the appointment of men to all positions under the harbor board."

MONROVIA HIGH IS INVADED BY CUPID.

Cupid has again invaded Monrovia High School. Warren Bellinger, son of a prominent family and a senior, admitted yesterday he has been married two weeks to Miss Marie Bartik of Arcadia, a student at Los Angeles High School. Both will continue their work until June, when they will be graduated. Jane Ellis, prominent in Monrovia High School dramatics last year, is today playing the role of a blushing bride. She and Harold Debenham were wed Wednesday in Los Angeles.

"Lay Down Your Arms" is the order given the soldiers in the play "Sir David Wears a Crown," to be given at Normal Hill Center at 3 p.m. today by the Children's Theater of the Los Angeles Community Service.

MAN FOUND DEAD WITH FEET TIED.

Victim of Robbers Gagged and Beaten in Room; Much Jewelry Missing.

Robbery was believed by the police to have been the motive for the murder of Arthur L. Chamberlain in his room, at 526 Maple avenue, about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The crime was discovered by Edwin L. Harper, a friend of the slain man, who is also a roomer in the house.

Mr. Harper told the police he looked into Mr. Chamberlain's room about 5:30 o'clock and found him lying on the floor, dead. The victim's head had been bound up in a towel, which covered his nose and mouth, and was tightly bound around his neck. It is believed he had smothered. His feet were tied together with a necktie, and his head had been mashed with a blow from some blunt instrument.

Roomers declared Mr. Chamberlain had gone to his room about 3:30 o'clock with two men, who were not known to others living in the house. Nothing was heard until Mr. Harper visited the room.

Detective Sergeants Shy, Simpson and Cline investigated, and learned that the murderers had stolen a diamond ring, valued at $350, a diamond stickpin, a watch and about $50 in money.

Mr. Chamberlain, who was 41 years of age, had been in Los Angeles about two years. He formerly operated a restaurant in East Fourth street. The only known relative is a sister, living in the East.

Gen. Diaz Will Stop Here Only Few Minutes.

Mayor Cryer yesterday received a telegram from Gen. Diaz, who was commander-in-chief of the Italian forces in the World War, stating that he is unable to accept the Mayor's invitation to make an extended visit in Los Angeles during his present tour of the country, but will be glad to greet those who desire to meet him at the railway station while passing through this city.

Gen. Diaz is expected to arrive here on the 27th or 28th inst., and will be given a reception by the Mayor and a committee of citizens at the station. The Mayor is expected to announce within a few days the personnel of the reception committee, which will include leading Italian-Americans of Los Angeles.

POUR MUD PLUG INTO GAS WELL.

Oil Men Hope to Stop Signal Hill Flow Soon.

Three Thousand Barrels a Day Dumped in Hole.

New Field Near Long Beach Believed Found.

Pouring mud into the hole blown by the gasser in the Martin well in the Signal Hill field at the rate of 3000 barrels a day, officials of the Royal Dutch Shell Company expressed the hope yesterday afternoon that they will be able to stop the flow of gas from the aperture within the next twenty-four to forty-eight hours.

Pipe lines from three near by wells are pouring the mud which at times is thrown back and up from 100 to 200 feet in the air by the terrific gas pressure. Gradually, however, the mud is stopping up the hole.

W. C. McDuffie, superintendent of operations for the Shell company in the Signal Hill field, who has been personally directing the work of controlling the gas and putting out the fire in the well, and M. A. Morrison, a Long Beach newspaper man, narrowly escaped serious injury yesterday afternoon when the ground for a space ten feet around the hole caved in twenty feet. Messrs. McDuffie and Morrison were leaning on the cement control box when they felt the earth slipping. They reached safety just as the control box was swallowed up in the caving well.

The total damage done by the gasser and fire is estimated at about $150,000. The Martin well, which had been drilled and cemented and was ready to be brought into production, is completely ruined it is said. Another hole will be made beside it.

NEW FIELD FOUND?

With a water well several years old which shows gas and a slight indication of oil as the basis for their operations, leasing agents are now busy a few miles west and slightly north of Long Beach. Their activity centers at a point three miles north of the Anaheim Road and Canal street intersection in Wilmington. Several companies operating in the Long Beach field are now holding considerable acreage under lease through contracts signed in the past few weeks. According to opinions expressed by some geologists the structure in that particular district is a continuation of the Signal Hill field.

The new district is said to possess a marked dome structure which is held in part by the Standard Oil Company, the Santa Fe Oil Company, the Wilmington Oil Company, the Union Oil Company, the Sandburg Petroleum Company and the Shell Company. The latter company drilled the discovery well on Signal Hill and holds the greater part of acreage under lease in the new territory. The Shell is reported to have leased 152 acres in the new territory, the Union, approximately 200 acres; the Standard, about 136 acres; the Wilmington, eighty-five acres; Sandburg, 144 acres, and the Santa Fe Oil Company's acreage is said to be included in the big Domingues lease.

GAS IN WELL.

The latter lease is one of the largest transactions, so far as oil leases are concerned, to be recorded this year. It includes a major portion of the property within the city limits of Torrance. The water well which caused the start of activities in the district is known as the Carrey well and was drilled some years ago. It is about 500 feet deep and gas which comes from it readily ignites. Oil colors are seen in the water, according to report.

The Standard Oil leases call for drilling operations within the next four months. The Union is to start in six months; the Sandburg interests are to erect a derrick in a few weeks; the Santa Fe lease is held by a well some distance to the north and the Wilmington Company has several months in which to start drilling.

PARENTS-IN-LAW SUED FOR DAMAGES.

MRS. ROSS WHITLEY SEEKS HUNDRED THOUSAND; PLOT IS CHARGED.

H. J. Whitley and his wife, Virginia Ross Whitley, were made defendants in a suit for $100,000 damages filed yesterday by their daughter-in-law, Saffrona Whitley, for asserted conspiracy to break up the latter's home.

Mrs. Saffrona Whitley declares that she was living happily with her husband, Ross E. Whitley, until the interference of his parents. She says that shortly after her marriage the defendants conceived and harbored an intense dislike to her and "wrongfully, maliciously and willfully" sought to prejudice the mind of Ross against her and finally alienated and destroyed his affection for his wife.

The complaint further charges that the defendants made purported false representations as to the integrity and moral rectitude of their daughter-in-law. They are also charged with asserting that she squandered and dissipated the estate of their son, and offered to assist him in procuring a divorce.

Ross Whitley's divorce suit is pending. There have been a number of hearings with regard to alimony and Mr. Whitley was ordered to pay his wife $300 a month.

LECTURES TOMORROW.

Gallery Talks May Be Permanent Feature at Southwest Museum.

The gallery talks given to laymen recently by Mrs. N. Brooker Mayhew and Miss Virginia E. Graeff at the Southwest Museum, have been so well attended that it is probable the Sunday lectures will be made permanent features of the institution according to statements made yesterday by officials of the museum.

Tomorrow afternoon will be devoted to the interests of children between the ages of 9 and 14 years. Mrs. Mayhew will speak on "How to Paint a Picture" and Miss Graeff will talk on "How to Look at a Picture." Each child will be asked to tell which picture in the gallery he or she likes best and to give the reason for the choice.

POLES AND WIRES.

The posters beckon us to hear Rubinstein, "the Polish Paderewski." We always thought that Paderewski himself was a pretty good Pole—a tall Pole at that. It takes the Poles to try out the wires of a piano.

BEARDS AND BEAUTY.

Secretary Hughes is still able to furnish ocular proof that a man may wear whiskers and yet be handsome. With Senator Lodge exhibiting similar lines the American delegation at the world conference goes far to carry out Samson's idea that in hair there is strength. At this particular moment we are leading the world in whiskers.

IN THE WAY.

It appears that the United States is only feeding 300,000 suffering Russian children, although most folk thought we were already caring for some millions. The awkwardness and incompetency of the soviet government stands in the way of its own people. If a man wants to hand a Russian a nine-dollar ham it takes a month of labor and a mile of red tape to get it to him.

KEEPING THE PEACE.

Uncle Sam is right. If the nations wipe out the new battleships and keep the old it will be better for the peace of the world. It would get away from the idea that governments must keep up to the minute in munitions of war. The big idea is to encourage nations to forget war. If they have all the tools ready there is always danger of resorting to war. There is no objection to a swift and seaworthy vessel. An up-to-the-minute naval fighting machine is another matter and is the thing we are trying to get rid of.

WORLD OF SMOKE.

The Anti-Cigarette League is having quite a job in making this a smokeless world. America is puffing about two billion more cigarettes this year than ever before. The old lady who started to sweep back the Pacific Ocean with a broom had a rather simple task when measured against the prospect before the cigarette reformers. Of course they have to crusade against something and they might as well war against the cigarette as anything else. One thing about it is that they can sniff the smoke of their battle at any old time. The league met the other day and reported progress. Thank heaven they can always report that.

COOKING IN THE SCHOOL.

Eastern educators admit that the brand of domestic science taught in the public schools does not make for economy in the home. Although the cooking instruction is claimed to be practical in its character it is not so considered in the home of the working man. He doesn't care to live on salads, fudge and chocolate eclaires. The bride who graduates from the domestic science department of the average high school can get up a meal for a couple of canary birds or a bobolink, but if she has to prepare the substantial menu for a crew of pile drivers she is helpless and inadequate. It is also asserted that thousands of dollars are wasted in experimentation in the schools. The highest priced foods and materials are bought for the domestic science departments and then spoiled or wasted in their handling. If the girls really became cooks and maids all would be well, but most of them learn only enough of domestic science to be able to find fault with the hired girl. If cooking is to be taught in the schools the pupils should at least learn how to stew prunes without burning blisters on them.

MAN OF ACHIEVEMENT.

In those rather temper-trying days when Los Angeles had two telephone systems a somewhat masterful man used to drop in on us once in a while, smile as he perceived the growing disgust over dual bells and slip on to San Francisco and back to New York. His name was Theodore N. Vail and it appeared in the literature of the American Telephone (Bell) Company alongside the word president. When Mr. Vail visited Los Angeles the people here, somewhat exasperated because of the double service (for which he was not responsible) thought more of their grievances than of the fact that the stranger within their gates was one of the most remarkable Americans. The man who made neighbors of 100,000,000," who practically saved the Bell Telephone Company at a critical period in its great history, was welcomed by our captains of industry, but to the telephone-using public of the Coast his name was almost unknown. The story of his life has just been written by Albert Bigelow Paine, who gave us the admirable biography of Mark Twain, and it shows him as a Colossus even among the financial giants of prewar days. He bestrode the continent. He was the man who put the American railway mail service on its feet; he was connected with railroads and telegraphs and great farming operations, but his life work was to place on a Gibraltar footing the great enterprise which resulted from the invention of the Scotch physiologist, Alexander Graham Bell. The First Assistant Postmaster-General was fighting mad when Vail left the government service "for a damned old Yankee notion (a piece of wire with two Texan steer horns attached to the ends, with an arrangement to make the concern bleat like a calf) called a telephone." He predicted that Vail would be back in a year. He was a poor prophet, for Vail became the president of one of the mightiest and most useful companies the world has known.

A CLOSE UP WORLD.

The audible transmission to San Francisco of President Harding's every syllable as he spoke beside the grave of the unknown soldier in Washington was not only a triumph of science, but a proof of the fact that man has annihilated distance and that we of today live in a close-up world—a world in which there must be either a far-reaching organization for order and peace or whirling chaos.

In finance, in food supply, in luxuries, in every requirement of the brain and body of man we are today closely tied up with and responsive to the other peoples of the earth. No nation can now live to itself. The telegraph, the wireless, the telephone, railroads, steamships, aircraft, all these have made it a small world. One of the most obvious and serious facts in connection with a small world is that it has to be run with infinite care and co-operation and intelligence if it is not to be a terrible place in which to live.

When there were frontiers and remote lands, when each nation was independent of every other nation, when science and thought and human ingenuity had not yet recast the world it was possible for governments to muddle along as best they could without bringing civilization itself to utter ruin.

But today we must all move in step or we trip each other up and trample one another down. The bankruptcy of one nation has its reaction in every bourse on the globe. A hymn of hate can in a few hours be carried to the ears of millions. Suspicion and distrust are no more deeply rooted today than they ever were, but they have a hundred new means of making themselves felt and of producing devastating results.

These four words, "What Hath God Wrought?" as sent over the first telegraph line of Morse from the United States Supreme Courtroom to Baltimore on May 24, 1844, not only signified a new era in communication, but announced that a new problem in human relationships was at hand.

There is keen irony in the situation which now confronts the nations. Man's ingenuity in mechanical things has so far outstripped his skill in adjusting human relationships that, unless some better type of government is worked out, civilization will perish from the very mechanical and scientific blessings which have been showered upon it.

Man has a better working knowledge of the electron than of that aggregate of electrons which we call the citizen or the subject. We have developed in lop-sided fashion, putting more brains into getting in touch with our neighbors than we have in getting along with them. As a matter of fact, it is a great misfortune to be in touch with our neighbors if we cannot also manage to be in tune with them.

That magnificent era of scientific unfoldment through which we have been passing has not only multiplied men's fingers, and in so doing recast a world industrially, but it has also multiplied our capacity for destroying one another.

We cannot return to the isolation of other days, because we cannot abolish knowledge. Men will continue to draw closer together in space, in time and in that timeless and spaceless empire of the mind. The problem of a proper adjustment between nations, then, will become more, rather than less, acute.

Such being the case, there must be an arrangement whereby the political machinery of the world will be brought up to date with the intellectual and mechanical era in which we live. The diplomacy of the Middle Ages is no more adequate to our present requirements than the pack horse of the time of Charlemagne would suffice for our transportation demands.

The world has evolved to the point where federation among the leading nations is possible and imperatively necessary. There is the foundation stone of the dignity and the rights and the freedom of the individual, which this country has done so much to make a part of the thought of the world. There is the example which we have in almost every nation today of the individual surrendering a part of his rights to his government in order to secure special benefits which would otherwise be impossible under an every-man-for-himself arrangement. There is the idea of co-operation which militarism, if it has accomplished nothing else, has pounded into every head, so that men can work together in vast numbers and many nations can easily be thrown into powerful alliances.

Having made these advances, having these foundations upon which to build, why cannot the nations erect a world government which will safeguard civilization, encourage further scientific development, widen the power of the mind and secure the blessings of peace?

The nations can do this. They must do it. We must apply the same courage, the same skill, the same genius to the tasks of world politics that we have given to those of industry and of science. The science of government must no longer lag behind in the human procession.

We live in a compact and crowded world. It must be well ordered and intelligently administered. There must be a world government; it must grow out of the peace conference.

BASE INGRATITUDE.

Gov. Stephens has arrived at that stage in his public life where he is moved to exclaim sorrowfully on the ungrateful attitude of the people. In a whirlwind of indignation that he should be charged with having failed to make good his pledges, made four years ago, that if elected he would effect economies and retrenchments, the Governor has launched his campaign to succeed himself.

The Governor says he has made good all pledges and he lets it be known how pained he is to find that a great proportion of the populace is unenlightened as to the economical aspects of his administration. Concerning charges of inefficiency and extravagance the Governor says they are not true in the first place and, in the second place, what of it if they are true? A traveling salesman presenting a large expense account and small results to a dubious employer could not possibly be more persuasive than the Governor in explaining to the people of California just "how it happened."

Of course, it would be more convenient and pleasant all around if the Governor had no explaining to do. Explanations of the expenses for the last four years are particularly annoying when, as a matter of fact, the Governor would much prefer to talk of the joys and pleasures and promises for the next four years.

However, an unreasonable bunch of ungrateful taxpayers, most of whom are voters, have adopted a peculiarly opprobrious stand. In their thankless and graceless ignorance these taxpayers have signalized their ingratitude for the Governor's strenuous efforts at economy by intimating that the addition of $40,000,000 to State expense in two years is really not economy, the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding.

Now the taxpayers undoubtedly are wrong, for they, by reason of their small affairs, deal only in a few hundreds or, at best, a few thousands of dollars annually, whereas the Governor deals in millions and millions and millions. Is it a pleasure and a delight to hear him discuss, with the utmost familiarity and ease, a few millions here and a few millions there? and is it a genuine joy to share in his nonchalance when he says "only" as it modifies relatively small sums in the amount, say, of $400,000 or $350,000?

In their benighted ignorance the tax-paying ingrates have had the audacity to appear unimpressed on recent occasions when the Governor has mentioned his economies and efficiencies. Only persons of a sensitive and higher nature can guess the anguish this lack of conviction causes the State administration economists.

Being experts in economizing, these administration authorities can go down a list of millions and tell instantly and unhesitatingly as to each item that it is an economical million and spent for the people's good. If the people persist in complaining? Well, let the people recall that loving kindness of the father who, taking his recalcitrant offspring to the woodshed, remarked: "My son, this hurts me more than you."

Many years ago, it is true, taxpayers were thrown into damp and gloomy dungeons when they injudiciously annoyed their rulers by protesting against tax burdens. Now the style is not to throw them into dungeons, but to talk to them soothingly and kindly, just as one talks to any individual suffering from delusions of grandeur or of persecution. Science of government, it should be borne in mind, progresses in keeping with the general progress and, as Gov. Stephens himself so aptly remarked, "costs more, too."

With the greatest optimism and exalted faith imaginable, the Governor talks about the glorious past, present and future of our great Golden State. He reiterates the word "golden" with such frequency and affection as to cause some uneasiness as to his intentions. Suppose, for instance, that the Governor and his followers, by reason of their superior wisdom, regard California in the same light as that legendary couple regarded the obliging but unfortunate goose that laid the golden egg?

What is to prevent the Governor from thinking, perhaps, that his $88,000,000 "golden egg" is not a marker to what he could get if he really tried? Let's pursue this horrible supposition no farther, however, for everyone knows the unhappy fate of the unfortunate goose.

Let us, rather, journey to that marvelous city of Sacramento, where, in the salubrious atmosphere of a generous clime, Gov. Stephens may, in the largeness of his heart, find for us some morsel from the public pocketbook. Or, failing in that, let us so apply ourselves to the study of the science of government, which, in fact, is the science of spending the people's money, that we, too, as in the amazing case of our fellow-citizen, Mr. Egerton Shore, may learn in the short space of seventy-seven days an intimate and authoritative outlook on costs of government. What man has done man can do. If Mr. Shore, despite petty routine and distracting interferences, could learn in seventy-seven days all he told the City Club in thirty-seven minutes almost anything is possible. An ordinary man, uninspired by the Sacramento influence, would be hard put to memorize Mr. Shore's speech in so brief a time.

SHOES AND HIDES.

Shoe manufacturers of the East are reported as offering their stocks at prices to be determined by the retailers themselves. That sounds reasonable, but it may not mean much. The cost of lumber affects the expense of building a bungalow, but the price of hides does not seem to have a compensating relation to the cost of a shoe. In August, 1919, the price of hides was 180 per cent above the average for 1913. At the present time hides are 35 per cent lower than they were in 1913. Some folks might think that shoes ought to be almost given away at that rate. A slump of more than 200 per cent in raw materials is a great drop. But they are not throwing shoes away—as yet. The explanation is that there has been no particular change in the price or status of imported hides, and these are the ones used in the manufacture of the higher grades of shoes. This is why the price of one shoe is $13 and another $5, although they look alike to the layman. It is claimed that both are worth the money. Most of the retail shoe dealers admit that the price of their wares will be lower next season. Nevertheless, the only way to make a notable saving in the shoe bill is to go barefoot. In this way California still has the best of the country. A man can go barefooted every day in the year in Los Angeles without suffering from chilblains or frosted toes. Come to sunny Southern California and save your shoes.

THE UNDESIRABLE.

Roy Gardner had another chance and threw it away. He was down in Mexico, where he might have lived without much danger of extradition. He had the opportunity even in this country to change his name and identity and make a livelihood by legitimate toil. If he had only been able to make a start in that direction some compassion could be shown him. But it was not for him. At the first possible moment he arms himself and makes another spectacular attempt at mail robbery. His apologists will probably stress the circumstance that he might have killed his victim but didn't. The fact remains that he went up against a bigger and better man—a man who merits all the tributes that may be accorded to personal heroism. After Gardner had been overpowered and arrested he still brazenly declared his purpose to escape his captors, no matter what desperate measures were necessary to attain his ends. There is a disposition among certain wild and careless spirits to make something of martyr and hero out of Gardner. He is admired by such souls as gave a halo to Jesse James and youthful morons are eager to emulate his adventuresome career. Gardner craves notoriety. He would rather be a notorious bandit than a plain, workaday citizen. Therefore he is a menace to society. There is a law in Arizona which makes train robbery a capital offense. If the jails will not hold Gardner perhaps the gallows would. He has caused more than his share of trouble to the country and can never be anything but a burden and responsibility. It is a pity that Mail Clerk Inderlied did not essay a little shooting on his own account.

JAPAN'S GREAT NAVAL VICTORY.

BY HARRY CARR.

Much has been heard of late of the battle of Tsushima Straits, where the Japanese won the greatest naval victory of modern times—one of the most stupendous victories of all times.

The history of that combat has a vital importance to the United States because, in the event of war between Japan and this country, it is a certainty that the Japs will rely on the same tactics to beat us that they used against the Russians.

The battle of Tsushima was one of the last phases of the war between Japan and Russia.

The Czar, grown desperate, mobilized the entire strength of the Russian navy and sent his ships on the long voyage from the Baltic to the Pacific. The purpose was to defeat the Japanese navy and so cut off the connection between Japan and the Japanese army in the field.

The Russian fleet left Libau in the Baltic Sea on Oct. 15, 1904. It got off to a bad start by attacking a fleet of British fishing boats off the Dogger Banks, mistaking them, in a panic, for Jap torpedo boats.

The fleet then divided into two sections; one under command of Admiral Folkersham going through the Suez Canal; the main fleet, under Admiral Rodjestvensky, proceeding around the Cape of Good Hope. The two sections rendezvoused off Madagascar, coming together the day that Port Arthur fell.

Meanwhile the Japanese fleet under Admiral Togo had been in hiding, waiting under cover of the islands at Tsushima.

When Rodjestvensky came abreast of Formosa he dropped the great collection of coaling and provision vessels that had hampered the movements of his fleet and headed for the Korean Straits, where he met the Japanese scout ships on Saturday, May 27.

The Russians went into battle with thirty-six war vessels. They were foul and slow from the long voyage, loaded down with coal and inefficiently manned.

Admiral Togo had four battleships and eight armored cruisers in spick-span condition and at the height of efficiency and power.

The Russians advanced in two columns. The battle opened when the fleets were about five miles apart; the fire reached its height in about half an hour.

At the end of an hour the Russian fleet was defeated. After that it was a wild flight which lasted through the night and the next day. It began on Saturday afternoon at 1:45. By Sunday afternoon at 2 the Russian fleet had been destroyed.

The Japanese tactics were very simple. Admiral Togo sailed diagonally across the Russian bows, concentrating the whole fire of his fleet on the leading Russian vessels, which were quickly disabled. Several caught fire.

Rodjestvensky tried to escape by changing his course to sail past the Japanese rear. Admiral Togo promptly put about and recrossed the Russian bows.

Late in the afternoon the Russian fleet, demoralized and shattered, disappeared toward the south. By 5 o'clock that afternoon many of the Russian ships had been sunk and the fleet was in disorder.

The sea had been running high during the day of the battle, but quieted down that night so that the Japanese torpedo boats were able to take a hand. All that night and the next day the Japanese fleet hunted down the fugitive Russians like terriers hunting rats.

The battleship Alexander II, which escaped destruction during the daylight fight, was hunted down and destroyed by Jap torpedo boats in the dark.

The ironclad Admiral Oushakoff refused to surrender and was sunk by two Japanese cruisers.

One Russian ship, the Izumrud, got away and arrived in the vicinity of Vladivostok, but was destroyed by the Russians themselves under the mistaken impression that they were about to fall into the hands of the Japs.

Of the thirty-six Russian war vessels that went into action twenty-two were sunk, six captured and six were afterward interned in neutral ports to which they escaped.

Admiral Rodjestvensky was captured in the cabin of a ship which had been surrendered by the crew. Admiral Folkersham was killed and Admiral Nebogatoff, who succeeded to the command, surrendered the survivors of the fleet, the Japanese officers going over to his ship to demand the surrender meeting the admiral on his way over to them to surrender it.

Admiral Togo had only one ship damaged; lost three torpedo boats; had 116 officers and men killed and 538 wounded.

It was a victory almost without parallel in the history of war, only the British victory at Trafalgar being worthy of mention compared with it.

The Russian admiral stated afterward that very little damage was done by torpedo boats on either side; neither were the armored sides of the Russian fleet pierced to the extent supposed. Most of the damage, he said, was caused by the springing of the steel plates under the pelting fire, causing leaks. Many of the Russian ships caught fire from the sheets of flame from their own gun fire. The combat was bloody and horrible. The remains of the killed were burned to keep up the fires of some of the Russian ships with the result that the hulks were stinking horrors after the fight.

Frederick McCormick has a very interesting account of this battle in his book, "The Tragedy of Russia in Pacific Asia."

RIPPLING RHYMES.

OLD FRIENDS.

As down the slope a pilgrim wends, where every bramble scores him, he rather dreads to meet old friends—their conversation bores him. Few gaze upon him and exclaim: "You're looking hunkydory! You have the same old stalwart frame, your locks are far from hoary! Your step is bold, your back uncurved, you still are spry and handy; you certainly are well preserved, you surely are a dandy!" Few talk in such a pleasant strain when on the pike they meet you; your aspect seems to cause them pain and with a sigh they greet you. "And so you're bald," they grimly say, "who once had raven tresses; and your complexion, sallow-gray, your breaking-up confesses. And you are bent, oh, Gaffer Jones, you're doped with pills and lotion; we hear the creaking of your bones when they are set in motion. When last we saw you, years ago, you were the living wonder, and you could lay the fighters low and pin the wrestlers under. You hobble o'er the paving stones, your face is most forbidding; your knees are spavined, Gaffer Jones, your feet are always skidding." The pilgrim, in his weary walk, would have no old friends present, for that's the way old comrades talk and it's a way unpleasant.

Hatfield, better known throughout the West as "Hatfield, the rainmaker." Mr. Hatfield was born in Macedon, N. Y., seventy-nine years ago. He resided in this county thirty-two years. He leaves a widow, Marie Hatfield, and the following children: Stephen G. Hatfield, Charles M. Hatfield and Paul A. Hatfield of Santa Ana; Joel Hatfield of Eagle Rock City, and Mrs. Phoebe Waite of Inglewood.

Missing Girl is Found in Sierra Madre.

Miss Lillian Brattin, 15 years old, who disappeared from her home at 1633 North Broadway Wednesday, was located yesterday morning at Sierra Madre, where her father and mother called for her in response to her phone call to her father's employer.

"My daughter says that something was thrown over her head as she stood on the curb at Avenue 21 and Pasadena avenue on her way to school Wednesday morning and that she does not remember anything that happened to her until she regained consciousness some where in the mountains back of Sierra Madre," said her mother last night. "Dr. Warnes says that she has not been harmed and no officers of any department of the city or county have investigated the case in any way for no one has even been here.

"The sensational publicity that has been given regarding her disappearance by one of the newspapers is not justified by the facts and grossly misrepresents my daughter's condition."

COURT SCORCHES "CHESTY" MAN.

Reads Riot Act to Husband Who, His Wife Says, Refuses to Work.

Ira Michaels, a tall, upstanding sort of a man, charged with failing to support his four children, learned in a few words yesterday what Judge Summerfield thinks of him. He was held in $2500 bail for his appearance in the Superior Court.

Mrs. Frances Michaels told the court that her husband never had a job; he hung around the house and would not support the children. He told her to get out and go to work, she said.

"You are one of these chesty fellows," said the court. "You have not a grain of truth in you. You are full of deceit and fraud. You are going to be taught a lesson. You are either going on the rock pile or to the penitentiary."

SHOOTS RIVAL AMID THRONG.

of having drugged and robbed Mrs. Weiss.

VICTIM TELLS STORY.

After having been told that he may die Sax last night repeated the story of the cause of the shooting.

"I never robbed Mrs. Weiss," he gasped from the operating table. "I never saw her diamonds and I did not know that she had $250 in Liberty Bonds."

Both Weiss and his wife deny that Mrs. Weiss was guilty of improper conduct with Sax.

Police records show that Weiss with his wife was brought face to face with Sax in the presence of a number of police detectives and a private detective retained by Weiss yesterday afternoon.

From Weiss himself the police learned last night the rest of the story. They discovered that after the meeting in the police station Weiss took his wife to their home in an apartment-house at Fifth and Bixel streets.

From his little apartment Weiss hurried to a store on Main street. He purchased a small automatic pistol and a number of shells. He loaded the clip before leaving the store, slipped the weapon into his pocket and hastened to Seventh street and Broadway where he knew Sax had engaged a room.

VICTIM APPEARS.

Lurking in a doorway Weiss peered at the crowd of homegoing workers. He was looking for the face of the man who had defamed his wife. Not suspecting danger, Sax appeared at just 5 p.m. He had been released from jail and was on his way to his lodgings.

Slipping his pistol from his pocket, Weiss fell into step behind his victim and then with a scream of rage buried his fingers in Sax's throat from the rear. He jammed the revolver against Sax's back and pulled the trigger twice.

Traffic Officers Spencer and Hubbs, working at Seventh street and Broadway, heard the shots and saw the passing crowd scrambling for safety. As the crowd cleared away two officers saw Sax prone on the sidewalk.

With his revolver still clutched in his right hand, Weiss was standing over his victim with a smile on his lips. When he saw the officers approaching with Patrolman Hoffman, who was attracted from Spring street by the shouts, Weiss dropped his revolver and raised his hands.

"The dog is dead and I don't want to hurt anyone else," said Weiss as he surrendered.

SEE PROSPECTS OF PEACE.

Thanksgiving Services to be Conducted in Scores of Local Churches.

Overjoyed at the calling of the Conference for the Limitation of Armament and with hopes and prayers in their hearts for a successful termination to that unprecedented movement toward universal peace, the church attendants of Los Angeles are not waiting for Thanksgiving Day in order to render reverence and praise to the God of Nations, but will meet tomorrow in their respective homes of worship to offer thanks to the Maker for past blessings and for the promise of even better things to come. The last year has been the crowning year in the turbulent history of the world, according to the opinions of many local ministers, who declare that reconstruction, on a scale hitherto undreamed of, has begun, not only in the economic and political fields of human endeavor but also within the hearts of men. And it is this latter kind of reconstruction, say the clergymen, which will furnish the key to unlock the doors to every problem which in the past has been the despair of humanity's great thinkers and reformers.

"CAN OUR POLICE DISARM?"
CHIEF JONES TO SPEAK.

In the interest of law enforcement and apropos of the movement to increase the size of the local police force, a special service will be held at Immanuel Presbyterian Church tomorrow evening when Chief of Police Jones will speak on the subject, "Can the Los Angeles Police Force Disarm?" or "Are the City Streets Safe for Young and Old?" Tomorrow will be homecoming day at Immanuel Church and Dr. Herbert Booth Smith will lead the congregation in a campaign to secure $200,000 in addition to the $260,000 now in hand. The committee plans to break ground for the first unit of the new church next Easter. The dimes of the $60,000 memorial organ will sign the contract for the installation of the instrument as soon as $100,000 of the new money has been raised. It is estimated that the first unit of the new home of worship will cost $600,000, and the second unit about $300,000 which, with the value of lots and furnishings, will make the entire plant represent an investment of approximately $1,000,000.

"WHITEWASHING FATTY."
TRINITY METHODIST CHURCH.

"Roscoe Arbuckle is a fair example of the ordinary movie star, and the movie people must save his hide to save their own." This opinion of the luminaries of the cinematographic skies was expressed yesterday by Rev. Robert P. Shuler, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, who will discuss the subject, "Whitewashing Fatty," in a prelude to his sermon tomorrow evening on "A Narrow Trail and Heaven." In the morning Mr. Shuler will preach on "Peace and a Prince." Maurice Johnson will conduct a Gospel song service at both meetings.

"IS ENGLAND SINCERE?"
CHURCH OF THE PEOPLE.

Taking for his subject a motto from the front page of The Times, Reynold Blight will speak before the Church of the People tomorrow morning on the topic, "How Much Would You Be Worth Should You Lose All You Have?" In a prelude to his discourse Mr. Blight will discuss the question, "Is Great Britain Sincere in Her Offer to Accept America's Disarmament Program?"

"OUR STREETS AFTER DARK."
WESTLAKE METHODIST

"Is it safe for a youth to be on the streets of Los Angeles after 8 p.m.? Do we need more policemen in the Westlake Park district after dark? What can we do that is good for the streets of Los Angeles? Who owns the streets, pedestrians or flivver-drivers?" These and similar questions will be discussed by Rev. Thomas O. Grieves in a sermon tomorrow evening at the Westlake Methodist Church. The morning sermon will be by Dr. A. W. Lamport who will preach on "Standards of Jesus as the Laws of Modern Happiness." Thanksgiving services will be held at the church next Thursday morning, followed by a community service in which the United Congregations of the Westlake Presbyterian churches and the Central Baptist Church will participate. Next Friday evening a Community Chorus will be organized.

TO DISCUSS DIVORCE.
WILSHIRE BLVD. CHRISTIAN.

"How to Keep Married Folks Married" is the topic for a sermon by Rev. M. Howard Fagan at the Wilshire Boulevard Christian Church tomorrow evening. "There is need for thought along this line, for in the last thirty days in Los Angeles there has been filed one petition for divorce for every two and one-half marriage licenses issued," said Mr. Fagan yesterday. Thanksgiving service will be conducted at the church tomorrow morning.

"THE AMERICAN GROUCH."
TEMPLE BAPTIST

Is it possible for a man or woman to live under the banner of the Stars and Stripes and be an ingrate? Dr. J. Whitcomb Brougher answers in the affirmative, and in a sermon at Temple Baptist Church tomorrow morning he will discuss "The Great American Grouch, or Why Be Thankful?" Preceding the evening sermon a natural color film entitled, "The Message of the Flowers," will be shown. In his evening discourses on "Handicapped," Dr. Brougher will relate a personal interview with Helen Keller. Splendid musical programs have been arranged for both services.

"THE SACRED BULLS."
TRINITY AUDITORIUM.

In connection with a great autumnal musical service, to be rendered by a chorus of 150 voices, an orchestra of fifty pieces and the big organ, Dr. E. E. Helms will deliver his second sermon on "Travels Through Egypt" tomorrow evening at Trinity Auditorium. The subject for the discourse is "The Wierd Tale of the Tomb of the Sacred Bulls." In the morning Dr. Helms will preach on "How to Make One Thousand Per Cent on Your Investment?"

"AT THE CROSS ROADS"
ST. PAUL'S PRO-CATHEDRAL.

Tomorrow will be one of the four great days in the calendar of the Episcopal Church for the State and nation. Sunday, November 20 is "Go to Church Day" for the Episcopalians, and the bishops of the diocese of Los Angeles, as well as officials of the National Council, are urging members of this denomination to lend their presence and prayers to services tomorrow. Rev. William MacCormack yesterday sent out letters to all his parishioners requesting them to attend worship at St. Paul's Pro-Cathedral tomorrow. In the morning Mr. MacCormack will preach on "Christianity at the Crossroads," and in the evening will speak on "Personal Reminiscences of the Oldest Organization in the World."

TO HELP NEEDY CHILDREN.

HEATH HIT IN POLICE CHANGE

Shake-up Sends Captain to University District.

Adams Given Command of Central Division.

Chief Jones's Order Surprise to the Department.

Capt. Lee Heath, for the past three months commander of Central Police Division, was transferred to University Division late yesterday afternoon without warning by Chief of Police Jones. Capt. David L. Adams, night commander of Central Division, replaces Capt. Heath. The transfers are effective this morning.

Capt. Heath was placed in command of Central Division by Chief Jones shortly after the latter took office and was ordered to clean up the city. During the three months Capt. Heath commanded the division Chinatown lottery dens, bookmaking on races in the downtown district, bootlegging and other forms of vice have been almost stamped out.

RECEIVES ORDER.

Capt. Adams, who takes command of Central Division today, for more than four years was in command of Hollywood Division. Two months ago he was called into Central Division and given command as night captain. Yesterday he stated that he had received an order from Chief Jones instructing him to take command of the Central Division. He declared the order effective today.

University Police Station was left without a commander as the result of a serious accident to Capt. A. W. Murray, who was struck down by an automobile while he was running for a street car early Thursday evening. Capt. Murray suffered a fractured left arm, lacerations and a slight concussion of the brain. He is in the Pacific Hospital and, according to police surgeons, will recover.

SURPRISE TO OFFICERS

The sudden transfer of Capt. Heath, who, during his short command made a record for arrests under various vice laws, came as a surprise to the entire police department yesterday. Chief Jones in his official order sent yesterday to Capt. Heath stated:

"Owing to the misfortune of Capt. A. W. Murray, who was injured last night, and who I am informed probably will be absent from duty for two or three months, you are hereby instructed to assume command of University Division, effective Nov. 19, 1921."

According to captains in the police department, other than those involved in the transfers yesterday, in the past when a commander for any reason has been forced to be absent from his command, the senior lieutenant in the division has taken command.

Syndicalism Suspects Get Court Warning

Judge Willis yesterday served notice on eleven defendants, accused of criminal syndicalism, that they must obey the orders of the court and that their questions must be in proper form. He reminded them that, unless they conduct themselves properly, they may be sentenced to jail for 250 days and fined $500.

During the morning session, the court reprimanded W. I. Fruit, telling him that he must adopt different tactics in court. At noon the court assembled the defendants and laid down the law.

The prosecution, represented by Dep. Dist.-Attys. McCartney and Turney, presented evidence against five defendants. When test evidence is given against the other six, testimony will be presented regarding the I.W.W. The case will be continued on Monday.

ASKS MORE POLICE.

Improvement Council Wants at Least Two Hundred Men.

The Greater Los Angeles Improvement Council, representing all the city's improvement associations, yesterday urged the City Council to appoint not less than 200 more policemen, and as many additional as the funds of the city will permit, "in order that the life and property of the citizens of this city may be protected." The communication from the improvement council was signed by Dudley S. Valentine of the Boyle Heights Improvement Association and M. E. Edward of the Northwest Improvement Association, secretary and assistant secretary, respectively, of the improvement council.

WIN CITIZENSHIP.

Germans Second to Britons in Number Taking Oath.

Subjects of Germany were runners-up with the English applicants for American citizenship yesterday in U. S. District Judge Trippet's court, thirteen one-time subjects of the former Kaiser passing muster, with Britons leading as usual with twenty-three.

Other aliens who became citizens were by nationalities as follows: Subjects of Austria, five; Russia, eight; Italy, five; Sweden, three; Norway, two; France, four; Rumania, two, and Greece, Poland, Denmark, Turkey and The Netherlands, one each.

All of those granted American citizenship took an oath to support and defend the Eighteenth Amendment to the Constitution—national prohibition.

LIGHTING SYSTEM EXTENSION ASKED.

The Huntington Land Company and other property owners yesterday petitioned the City Council to extend the Broadway ornamental lighting system to the new extension from Tenth to Pico streets. The petition was referred to the city electrician for an estimate as to the number of new posts that will be required and the total cost of the extension.

OUST BOURBONS, CAPITAL ASKED.

Republicans Take New Step to Get Offices Here.

List of Candidates Reported on Way to the East.

Immediate Action Requested of Administration.

Immediate action by the Republican administration at Washington to replace Democrats holding Federal offices in Los Angeles with Republicans was requested in letters prepared here by a patronage committee and sent to the national capital. The letters sent yesterday contained recommendations for appointment of Republicans to the positions of United States Attorney, United States Marshal, United States Collector of Customs and United States Collector of Internal Revenue.

Action of the committee followed several conferences of a "board of strategy" at which it was declared the Republican workers should fill all offices now held by the opposition. The first move in the campaign was for the committee in charge to eliminate surplus candidates and that was done ruthlessly, according to report.

CANDIDATES REPORTED.

The recommendations sent to Washington for the positions are reported to be as follows:

United States Marshal—Al Sittel, present deputy in Marshal Walton's office.

United States Attorney—Joe Burke of Santa Ana, who has already been approved by both California Senators, according to report and whose name probably will be sent to the Senate within a few days.

United States Collector of Customs—Lewis Schwaebe was the first choice of the committee with Cadet Taylor of Pomona and A... ...an of El Monte backed by some of the G.O.P. leaders.

United States Collector of Internal Revenue—Judge Rex Goodcell of San Bernardino appears to have a majority of the committee with Herbert White also considered.

These names have been sent to Washington with what purports to be the indorsement of the leading Republicans of Southern California. The patronage committee includes Louis Cole, vice-chairman of the State Central Committee, Alfred L. Bartlett, chairman of the county committee, and about twenty-five others.

ELIMINATE CANDIDATES.

Several meetings were held while the elimination process was progressing. Numerous candidates who had been announced for different offices were prevailed upon to drop their ambitions for the time being. Others were offered deputyships under the various chiefs and while no slate has been prepared for the deputyships it was understood several had been promised should the committee's candidates be accepted by the administration.

It was stated yesterday that Atty.-Gen. Daugherty had been written with regard to the United States Attorney's office here. The request was made that U. S. Atty. O'Connor be asked to tender his resignation subject to the pleasure of the Attorney-General. This move was made to enable Mr. Burke to assume the office as soon as his nomination shall be confirmed by the Senate. It was also said that some opposition which developed against Mr. Burke on religious grounds has been removed by the explanation that he is a member of the Masonic order. His pathway to the office now is said to be blocked by Mr. O'Connor's refusal to let go.

Joe Nolan has not been entirely eliminated from the race for the United States Marshalship, but the committee's backing has been given to Mr. Sittel. Whether the committee, which is admittedly self-appointed to a large degree, can carry through its recommendations is a matter that will have to be determined at Washington.

It was stated that Senator Shortridge has signified his willingness to give careful consideration to the committee's selections and Senator Johnson was more or less committed to several of the candidates.

WARNING GIVEN.

The present Federal office holders in Los Angeles have been informed of the purpose of the Republican committee. Efforts were made to call upon U. S. Atty. O'Connor, Marshal Walton, and Collector Elliott before the letters were written to Washington. Collector of Customs Carter's resignation has been in the hands of the Treasury Department since last March 4, when he signified his willingness to turn over the office as soon as his successor is appointed.

The Federal Land Office so far has not excited the Republican committee to any appreciable extent. No recommendations have as yet been forwarded to the capital for the offices of Receiver or Registar, although it is understood both are available when candidates are brought forward.

The committee directing affairs is expected to mark time for the next few days, or until the letters reach their respective addresses in Washington. Action following such receipt there will be based upon suggestions from the department heads. Efforts to sound out Atty.-Gen. Daugherty, and Secretary of the Treasury Mellon regarding their probable action with regard to the local pleas were fruitless and no intimation of their action is expected until the letters are received in Washington.

CURSED AND HIT, SAYS SPOUSE.

Wife Also Threatened to Shoot Him, Declares Suing Husband.

First she swore at him, then hit him on the head with a statue, after that she threw a wooden butter mixer, then stabbed at him twice with a knife, and, missing, cut him on the leg with it, and as a climax, offered to get a gun and shoot him. That is a part of one day's activities of his wife, in the home of Thomas L. MacLaughlin, according to a divorce action filed yesterday against Nellie MacLaughlin. The couple lived together but a few months, marrying in February and separating in the early part of this month.

MARRIED "OTHER MAN," IS SPOUSE'S CHARGE.

WIFE LIVED AT HOTEL WITH ASSERTED AFFINITY, SAYS HUSBAND.

Because she worked as an extra in motion pictures and was infatuated with Charles E. Gorham, Dorothy Brewster Kidd and Frederick T. Kidd separated last May 30, Mr. Kidd testified during divorce proceedings in Judge Tuand's court yesterday. After the separation, Mr. Kidd also declared, Mrs. Kidd married Mr. Gorham and lived with him at a hotel.

Mrs. Kidd's newspaper picture was identified by Mr. Kidd and the hotel detective as that of the woman who had lived with Mr. Gorham as his wife. Mr. Kidd also stated that his wife confessed to having stayed at the hotel with Mr. Gorham. It also was asserted that Mrs. Kidd married Mr. Gorham last June.

The hotel detective testified that Mr. Gorham was arrested last June 21 on a charge of having passed worthless checks. It was brought out that Mr. Gorham made good the checks and that the charge against him was dropped.

It also was shown that Mr. Gorham sued for an annulment of his marriage to Mrs. Kidd. This marriage is made ground for Mr. Kidd's divorce action.

Declares Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to Be the Best Medicine for Girls and Women

Hamilton, Ohio.—"I had such awful pains in my back I could hardly stand on my feet and I was never without a headache. If I walked up town I thought I would drop and many a time I felt so bad I had to go to bed and I was not able to do much of my housework. I would have hemorrhages every two weeks and dragging-down pains. I had been feeling badly for three years and had two of the best doctors in the city, but I kept getting worse and only weighed 135 pounds. I saw your advertisement and I took eight boxes of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, four bottles Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine and your Liver Pills and noticed an improvement right away. Now I weigh 148 pounds and feel fine. Everybody tells me how well I look and asks me what I took and I always say, 'Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the best medicine in the world for any sickness to which girls and women are subject.' I will always have a good word for your medicine."—Mrs. JOSEPH WILLIMAN, 732 South 9th Street, Hamilton, Ohio.

MUSICAL.

BEETHOVEN.

PHILHARMONIC ORCHESTRA; HACKETT AS SOLOIST.

By Edwin Schallert.

Refinement was the dominating characteristic of the concert given by the Philharmonic Orchestra yesterday afternoon at Philharmonic Auditorium. The event marked the third symphony program played by Conductor Walter Henry Rothwell and his men this season, and the soloist was Arthur Hackett, the excellently schooled and artistic tenor.

The presentation of Beethoven's Symphony No. 3, the "Eroica," disclosed in an impressive way the finer qualities in Mr. Rothwell's manipulating of his instrumental forces. That he showed solicitude for a true interpretation was evidenced in his careful treatment of the delicate texture of the "Marcia Funebre." This achieved its object at all but few points.

The scherzo he also gave with a delightful freedom and sweep. Compared with the character of the preceding movement this scherzo seemed strangely but engagingly merry in mood. Both the opening and final movements of the symphony were presented with a clear and sympathetic understanding of their content and, while personally I believe in a less studious presentation of a Beethoven work for a modern-day audience, not to mention judicious cutting of certain reiterated developments of theme, I feel that the "Eroica" rendition was an achievement of moment for the Philharmonic Orchestra.

Goldmark's overture to "Sappho" is not among the more familiar of his works here. For this reason it attracted interest. It was played with expressive instrumental contrasts, and afforded the harpists and Sylvain Noack, in the solo section, a chance to achieve atmosphere of Lesbian attractiveness. Rich in color and sensuous appeal, the overture proved a popular number.

Wagner's Entrance of the Gods into Valhalla from "The Rheingold" closed the program with portentous splendors. The orchestra gave it a vigorous presentation.

What a fine evenness of tone quality Arthur Hackett evinces in his singing. You cannot fail to be pleased and even fascinated by it. Particularly beautiful was his rendition of "In Fernem Land" from "Lohengrin," to which the accompaniment was one of exquisite taste. The Massenet and Lalo selections, of operatic character, rather tended to display only the smoothness of Hackett's voice, without giving any opportunity for enriching color.

BANK EMPLOYEES DANCE.

More than 300 members of the various banking departments of the Heilman Commercial Trust and Savings Bank branches gathered last night at the opening dance of the season at the Wilshire Apartments, Sixth and South Coronado streets. The affair was given under the auspices of the Mountain Club of the Heilman Bank. This club organization has its own lodge at Big Bear Lake.

LADIES' ONE-PIECE DRESS.

In frocks of soft fabric like silk crepe, Georgette, voile or chiffon there is a marked tendency to uneven hem lines. The model illustrated arrives at this effect by means of loose panels, which drop below the hem line at each side of the skirt.

The ladies' one-piece dress is cut in sizes 34 to 42 bust. Size 36 requires 3¾ yards 40-inch material with 1½ yards binding. Price of pattern 15 cents.

DOUG - MARY FEATURE.

UNITED ARTIST CHIEF MAKES KNOWN THEY'LL CO-STAR.

By Grace Kingsley.

What is probably the supreme hankering of all picture fans, viz., to see Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford in a production, is about to be realized, according to an announcement which came over the wire from New York last night.

The feature will be made in England, according to this announcement, given out by no less an authority than A. C. Berman, general manager of the United Artists' Corporation, who has just returned from a consultation with the two stars in Paris. The feature will probably be a costume play, but no definite information on this head is forthcoming at present.

Work on the picture is to begin early in January according to the statement of Mr. Berman, and the name of the story and the director who will have charge will be announced later.

The above announcement is in accordance with a long-cherished plan of the two stars. So long ago as six months, a friend in the close confidence of Miss Pickford told me that a story has been purchased for the joint use of the two, but no definite announcement has been made until this time.

It Wasn't Our Cullen.

Posing as Cullen Landis, the motion-picture actor, a former Los Angeles youth was married in Chicago recently to a girl whom he won after a courtship lasting less than thirty-six hours, according to information at the Goldwyn studio yesterday.

Miss Irene Knight, hostess at the Little Club of the Hotel Randolph, Chicago, knew the unsuspecting bride. After the bridegroom had been exposed by the police, he admitted that he was a former haberdashery clerk from Los Angeles, King Blakesly by name. Blakesly told the police that he is now traveling and selling haberdashery, but that as he did not seem to be prospering greatly, he thought he might do better if he masqueraded as the film player.

So he tried it, and he "went over big." It took him a day and a half to win the heart and hand of Miss Knight.

When the youth was taken to the detective bureau, following his confession, his bride at first was angry and threatened to have the marriage annulled. Later she said she still loved him, and he said he still loved her. The police, therefore, allowed Blakesly to go. The young couple will try marriage under the groom's real name.

Landis, who is under contract at the Goldwyn studio, lives at Long Beach, with his wife and baby. He is now appearing in "Remembrance," under the direction of Rupert Hughes.

Nazimova Announces Cast.

When Mme. Alla Nazimova sets out to do a thing, she does it thoroughly, and therefore the theater-going world is looking forward eagerly to her first picture to be produced for the United Artists. This picture, as everybody knows, is to be a film version of Ibsen's "A Doll's House," on which work is being commenced at the Brunton studios.

The cast of players who will appear in support of the star augur well for its success. The names include those of Alan Hale, Wedgwood Nowell, Nigel De Brullier, Florence Fisher, Elinor Oliver and Cara Lee. Little Barbara Maier and Phillippe De Lacy will appear as the children.

In giving the screen her portrayal of Nora, Nazimova is reviving one of the roles in which she first won distinction as an English-speaking actress. And from present indications, it would appear as though the production of this Ibsen classic on the screen will assume tremendous proportions. It is being produced in artistically beautiful fashion. Charles Bryant is directing.

Her Sister In It.

Claire Adams, star of Benjamin B. Hampton Productions, is initiating her pretty 15-year-old sister into filmdom. The younger Miss Adams recently arrived from New York with her mother to live with Miss Claire. She appears for the first time before the camera in "Wildfire," the Zane Grey story which Hampton is producing.

Star Prefers American Slang.

Fay Bainter, who comes to the Mason next week in her great New York success, "East is West," declares the English slang, as she is spoken in her native land, is a fearful and wonderful thing.

"An Englishman," she said, "always had a 'topping time' when he enjoyed himself, but 'tripe' is his term for something utterly vapid.

"I really missed the American slang very much.

"I shall never forget what a warm thrill went through me when I reached New York early one morning, and, while waiting for my bags, heard one man say to another, 'Some day, huh?' To which his companion replied, 'I'll tell the world!'

"I was home again."

Stars Ill in Hospital.

Two well known picture actresses were reported yesterday as suffering from appendicitis and as having been removed to hospitals. They are Phyllis Haver, leading woman in many Mack Sennett productions, and a noted beauty, and Marguerite Livingston, formerly a player in Ince features, but lately with Robertson-Cole.

Miss Haver was removed from her home to the Clara Barton Hospital yesterday morning, where a consultation of physicians was held. She is suffering from acute appendicitis, and will probably be operated on later.

Marguerite Livingston has been in the Good Samaritan Hospital for several days, and has undergone an operation for appendicitis. She is reported as recovering rapidly.

BEAT HER, SHE SAYS.

Hit on Eye, Jaw Bruised, Wife's Charge Against Spouse.

In the nine years of their married life, Frederico De Silva beat Cora E. De Silva on a number of occasions, according to a divorce complaint filed yesterday by Mrs. De Silva. She states that her husband hit her on the eye and also bruised her jaw. The complaint which was prepared by Attorney Harrison Cassell states that the couple were married Oct. 31, 1913, and separated Sept. 24, 1921.

FILM MAN DIES.

Illness Takes Head of Local Branch of Eastman.

Samuel Mayer, prominent in the Los Angeles motion-picture colony, died suddenly Thursday night of a complication of ailments at his home, 6821 Odin street, Hollywood. Mr. Mayer had been ill for several months but it was not believed that he was seriously in danger until Thursday. He was at his office the day before his death.

For a number of years Mr. Mayer was associated with J. E. Brulatour and was general manager of the Brulatour organization at the time Mr. Brulatour was at the head of the World Film Company. While Mr. Mayer was with the Paragon Studio, Fort Lee, N. J., Producer Maurice Tourneur formed his own company and made Mr. Mayer general manager.

Mr. Mayer came to Los Angeles three years ago in that capacity. When Mr. Brulatour opened a western branch of the Eastman Kodak Company for the distribution of Eastman films, Mr. Mayer was made general manager.

Tierney Dies of Cuts; Body Brought Here.

William Tierney, well-known sporting man and apartment-house owner of Los Angeles, who walked into the propeller of a civilian airship soon after his arrival in the plane at March Field, Riverside, Thursday afternoon, died at an early hour yesterday at the field hospital. The body was brought to Los Angeles for burial.

Relatives are awaiting the arrival of Mr. Tierney's son from St. Louis. He is expected on Monday and the funeral services will be conducted Tuesday. The body is at the Alvarez & Blue undertaking establishment.

RAN AROUND NIGHTS, CHARGE OF SPOUSE.

He was a fireman, and while he worked at night, his wife ran around with other men, according to a divorce complaint filed yesterday by William J. Keith against Norma G. Keith. The complaint, which was prepared by Attorney Carlyle Wynn, states that the couple were married April 24 and separated October 3, of this year.

VERNON ARSON SUSPECT HELD.

Man Found With Oiled Rags, Officers Assert.

Will be Subject of Inquiry by Grand Jury.

Prisoner Denies Connection With Recent Fires.

Jerry Finn, age 41 years, for the past nine years a resident of Vernon, was arrested yesterday by Deputy Sheriffs Fox and Nolan and Chief of Police Keller of Vernon. Finn was taken to the County Jail on suspicion of having been connected with recent fires in Vernon. He was held for investigation by the grand jury. The prisoner denies having had any connection with the fires reported.

The arrest followed finding of oiled rags in his possession, and his shoes were found to fit footprints found in the ground near several recent fires believed to have been of incendiary origin, the officers say.

Finn lives on East Twenty-seventh street with his family. He was formerly employed at the Vernon plant of the California Dressed Meat Company, but left there some time ago. The officers expressed the belief that Finn was involved in the fire that destroyed the meat company's plant recently. They also say he knows something about the destruction by flames of the Hercules Gas Company's plant, and the poles of the Southern California Telephone Company, recently burned in that vicinity. The officers are attempting to connect Finn with other fires at Vernon, which, it is believed were set by fire-bugs.

Beach Cities Hear Pasadena Stadium Plan.

The Tournament of Roses drive for seat sales in the new $1,000,000 Pasadena stadium began in the Bay cities district yesterday when Frank G. Hogan made a speech in behalf of the campaign at a noon luncheon of the Santa Monica-Ocean Park Chamber of Commerce directors at the Merritt Jones Hotel.

Important features of the plans for the construction of the big athletic plant and the program for financing the project through the sale of five and ten-year seats were discussed by Mr. Hogan. He urged the Tournament of Roses boosters in the Bay cities to select seats in the new stadium at once.

Mr. Hogan is a former president of the Tournament of Roses and one of the most active members of the committee working for the success of the stadium. He will speak on this subject at the Los Angeles Advertising Club luncheon Tuesday and at the Optimist Club luncheon on December 1.

Rap Plan for Board to Test Electricians.

The Business Property Owners' and Managers' Association of Los Angeles yesterday went on record, in a communication forwarded to the City Council, against the passage of the proposed ordinance creating a board of electrical examiners. The ordinance has been vetoed by Mayor Cryer, and is now before the Public Safety Committee of the City Council, which will give a hearing on it next Monday afternoon. The Business Men's Co-operative Association has already gone on record against the ordinance.

The letter of the Business Property Owners' and Managers' Association states the ordinance is "un-American and tends dangerously to hamper and control freedom of labor," and the provisions of the proposed measure are "vicious in character, militating against the rights of skilled or unskilled labor, and tend to throw a very important class of skilled labor virtually under the control of unionism."

NARCOTIC CONTROL AGENCY ORGANIZED.

SOUTHLAND PEACE OFFICERS FORM ASSOCIATION; NAME TRAEGER PRESIDENT.

Plans for a permanent organization under the name of the Southern California Narcotic Control Association were perfected yesterday at a meeting of peace officers of the Southland in the Music-Art Studio Building. Approximately 200 persons were present. Sheriff Traeger of Los Angeles county opened the convention. He was elected president of the association.

Talks were made by H. J. Finger of Santa Barbara, who was a member of the United States commission to The Hague opium conference years ago; Warden Johnson of San Quentin penitentiary, and several Southern California sheriffs.

Those present included Sheriff Shay of San Bernardino; Sheriff Wilson, Riverside; Sheriff Byers, San Diego; Sheriff McGlinchey, Ventura; Deputy Sheriff Taylor, Bakersfield; Chief of Police Deis, Riverside; Chief David Mattlock, El Centro, and Chief Patrick, San Diego.

Los Angeles was represented by Sheriff Traeger, Undersheriff Biscailuz, Deputy Sheriffs Hotz and DeWar, Chief of Police Jones, Capt. Heath, Capt. Home, Superior Judge Weyl and City Mother Aletha Gilbert.

Frank S. Hutton was elected secretary, and committees were appointed. Representatives of the Army and Navy attended. Dr. Applegate of the Norwalk Hospital told of the treatment of narcotic addicts. The theme of the meeting was legislation and enforcement that will eradicate the drug evil.

RATE HEARING DEFERRED.

URGES WOMEN TO FIGHT VICE.

State Federation President Talks to Mothers.

Drugs Sold School Children, Says Mrs. Fitzgerald.

Use Your Vote for General Good, Speaker Says.

BY MYRA NYE.

With a stirring appeal for the 50,000 club women of the State to take their places in the vanguard of the great procession for the moral and civic advance of California, Mrs. William A. Fitzgerald, president of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, spoke yesterday before the Echo Park Mothers' Club on "The Relation of the Club Woman to the State and the Development of Her Social Conscience."

"Do you know, I wonder, of the organized vice in our beloved State that we club women have to combat in the next two years?" challenged Mrs. Fitzgerald. "I speak of what I know when I tell you that huxsters of drugs are selling their wares on the steps of our high schools. So-called 'snow parties' where cocain is freely used are not uncommon in high school circles.

"The Vigilante Committee of women in my own city of San Francisco are doing a brave and noble work. We club women must rally to their support and not be too fearful of doing the striking thing that will cause public comment. We must be the chief moulders of public opinion. I am not an alarmist. The good intentioned women are in the great majority. But the minority of vice is organized and articulate while we are too prone to be indifferent with the mental attitude 'Let Anna do it.'

MISTAKES OF WOMEN.

"We club women have stressed too much what the adolescent boy and girl is wearing. We have ridiculed her for her rouge and the way she does her hair and have not tried to get her point of view. We have not thought enough of the paths these young people of ours are treading and have thought too much of the kind of shoes they wear in those paths."

Mrs. Fitzgerald made a strong arraignment of the sins of omission of which she said the club-women are most often guilty, particularly the sin of omitting to vote when great issues that affect the welfare of the youth of the State are before the people. She also belittled the attitude of mind in a woman which emphasized the good of the past and ignored the good of the present.

The second speaker of the afternoon was Mrs. J. S. Trewhella, vice-president of the district, whose subject was "The Clubwoman's Relation to the Home."

"The one qualification to make a woman eligible to club membership" should be motherhood. If she is not a natural mother then she should be a foster mother," was Mrs. Trewhella's strongest statement.

Friday Morning Club.

Christobal Pankhurst, one time candidate for Parliament in England, together with her mother and her sister, Sylvia, famed for her striking work for woman's suffrage before the war, and her intense loyalty after war war began, delighted the Friday Morning Club yesterday in an after luncheon talk.

"Ah, I know," she said in her beautifully modulated voice, which she made tender or tense at will, "that I was a stormy petrel in my day, but what is the good of fighting unless it be toward peace. Strictly political days are ended for me. I have come to see that we women must be free of the career mania. Only so may we purify politics. We must give and not take. We must do and not seem to do. We got the vote at just the right time. With it, women are a great new spiritual force," and she emphasized the word new.

"If we realize our individual responsibility in the peace for which just now the whole world is hoping, we women will be a beneficient infection. Peace is our politics now. We need not talk of co-operation of the Old World with the new. It's here. But we across the waters must come more often to you. You Americans have done your full share of coming to us."

LOOKS YOUTHFUL.

Although Miss Pankhurst referred to her active days as past as a woman of 40 might have done, she looked little more than a girl. It was her first appearance in California and many of the members of the club remembered her sister Sylvia as the latter talked to them during California's woman's suffrage campaign. Sylvia, the radical, whose newspaper was seized by the government, Sylvia, crying aloud for a soviet government for England and ruining her sister's chances for election to Parliament and the memory, added interest to all that the speaker yesterday had to say.

For the program hour Gertrude Workman, formerly of the Jessie Bobstelle Players, Washington, a former member of the club, presented and played in three one-act plays, "The Postscript," a comedy; "The Slump," a tragedy, and "Where But in America," a comedy, all clear and delightful.

LETTERS FROM SOLONS.

Mrs. A. S. Lobingier, president of the club, read letters from Senator Underwood and Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, who represent the United States at the Disarmament Conference, which expressed the appreciation for the club's telegrams on Armistice Day commending the President and expressing hope for the success of the conference.

"We are carrying on quite a brisk correspondence with our friends at Washington," said Mrs. Lobingier. "Their letters are quite interesting, but it surely takes me back when Mr. Lodge addresses us as 'Dear Ladies.' It's a long time since we Friday Morning Club members have been called ladies."

Miss Gertrude Darlow of the public library, who has just returned from a trip in England and the continent, told in literary way the impressions of her travels as the second speaker at luncheon.

HELD ON FORGERY CHARGE.

Edward H. Hicks, charged with having forged the signature of J. B. Alexander, postmaster at Tecan, N. M., to money orders aggregating in value about $300, was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Long yesterday. His bond was fixed at $1500, and in default he was committed to the County Jail. Hicks was arrested in Pasadena.

DAILY TRADE TALK.

Development of a New Industry; Credit Men Listen to Illuminating Talks; New Bank Opens.

The overnight growth of the motor-truck freight business is the transportation phenomenon in Southern California today. The business has made such a mighty leap from its swaddling clothes into long trousers in the past two or three years that the traffic experts are only beginning to work out the plans of a more orderly and systematic future.

Evidence of the coming era in this new element of the transportation business is at hand in the two large motor-truck freight terminals now under process of construction in Los Angeles. One on Alameda street, near Fourth, will be completed December 1, and will be the center for five large motor transport lines operating to outside points. The other, now practically completed, is located at the corner of Sixth and Mill and will have facilities for at least ten operating companies.

There are seventy-four motor-truck freight lines operating out of this city at present and it was estimated yesterday by F. D. Howell, assistant general manager of the Motor Transit Company and vice-president of the Motor Carriers' Association, that these lines carry approximately 200,000 tons of freight monthly in and out of Los Angeles. This figure represents a very large percentage of the total short haul, less than carlot shipments made in this territory by both rail and truck. And it takes on an even greater importance when it is remembered that the history of the motor truck business only dates from a modest beginning back in 1915.

TERRITORY COVERED.

The territory covered by these truck lines operating on regular schedule extends as far north as Bakersfield, east to Mojave and south to San Diego. Besides this there is one fast freight service which connects Los Angeles and San Francisco and makes merchandise deliveries between the two cities in thirty-six hours, and another regular service to Fresno. There are also innumerable "tramp" trucks which are engaged in the hauling business but do not operate on a regular schedule.

Naturally the trucks specialize in handling those types of merchandise which are benefited by the expedited delivery and elimination of excessive handling that truck service offers. It is for this reason that nearly all of the fresh meat and perishables within a radius of 100 miles of Los Angeles are now shipped by truck instead of by rail. The flexibility of the truck also enables the shipper to reduce his terminal and handling costs in short haul shipments. A truck can be loaded in an orchard and driven direct to a packing-house, eliminating the two transshipments necessary if the same fruit was handled by rail.

It is these factors that determine the special province of the truck business, according to Mr. Howell. There is a point where the cheaper line haul costs of the railroads make up the difference of their higher terminal costs and beyond that point the truck cannot compete, except where the shipper is willing to pay a higher rate for the special service rendered by the truck. In other words, it is cheaper to load and drive a truck to San Fernando than it is to load the same amount of goods in a freight car and have them carried to the same point. But as the goods continue on their way to San Francisco the motor costs increase and the rail costs, once the goods are rolling, decrease. Eventually a point is reached, say 150 miles up the line, where the truck can only operate at a loss if competing with rail rates. Thus the future of the truck business seems limited to operation within the radius determined by this point and by its special-rate service given to perishable goods and products not affected in value by delay.

SMALL UNITS

But within these given limits Mr. Howell points out that the truck business is capable of great development. So far the game is still in the hands of the men who started driving their own trucks. Capital and men of wider vision have so far not been attracted to it in any great number. Out of the seventy-four truck lines operating out of Los Angeles, very few have more than twenty trucks in their fleets. Half of them have fleets above ten trucks and the other half below ten. It is obvious that large consolidated lines have not come into the field yet. When they are formed, as they probably will be in the future, the whole business will probably be very much changed.

One of the developments that Mr. Howell is looking forward to in the future is a grand central terminal for the freight trucks. Door-to-door deliveries in the city could be effected by a fleet of small trucks serving the central terminal and it would serve as a general receiving point for all outgoing shipments. The passenger motor business in Los Angeles is already handled in a large measure through a central depot at Fifth and Los Angeles streets and it is only a question of time and capital before the freight business will be centralized in the same way, Mr. Howell thinks.

Truck line freight rates, like rail rates, are regulated by the State Railroad Commission. Discriminatory charges are guarded against in this way. Truck rates have remained at practically the same level throughout the period of high costs and the readjustment period. When costs were high, the truck men preferred to accept smaller profits than upset the rate structure they had built up, according to Mr. Howell. The wisdom of this course is seen with the increased business as conditions gradually return to normal. Truck rates, in general, are slightly above the corresponding rail charges.

GRAVES ON CREDITS.

J. A. Graves, president of the Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank, was a guest at the meeting of the Los Angeles Credit Men's Association Thursday evening, which, by the way, attracted a larger attendance than any other meeting in the history of organization.

Mr. Graves discussed credits and started with an original version of the first long-term credit of which there is any record; that of Jacob who required fourteen years of service before he would give his daughter Leah in wedlock.

The speaker expressed the belief that while China appears to have joined the bankrupt aristocracy of Europe he believed that eventually the loan upon which that country recently defaulted would be paid. Credit, he said, is founded upon confidence, and the sooner a dishonest creditor is wiped out the better it is for the commercial world.

Freight rates and taxation were pointed out as two disconcerting aspects in the present business situation. Devastated Europe Mr. Graves does not view with as much alarm as some investigators. Europe will come back, is his conclusion. She has been more or less regularly devastated ever since the dawn of history, and always she has come back.

The crushing of Socialism and the spirit that denies the rights of property, coupled with the instilling of love of country, the institutions of peace and an abhorrence of war, are, he said, conditions precedent to a return to normal living.

At the same meeting Sir Frank Popham Young, a distinguished English soldier, civil administrator, author and playwright, brought a message from India, a land with which long residence has given him familiarity.

He told his audience that in the Orient, and especially in India, wonderful opportunities await American initiative and capital, opportunities which only need investigation and application to bring splendid results.

Life and property are safer there than they are in Los Angeles, he said, and it is recognized that trade must be accompanied by law and order. India is outgrowing the feeling of inferiority under which she has been laboring for centuries and is beginning to shape her destiny along trade lines.

The trade of the Orient has a wonderful future; is fraught with tremendous potentialities and is capable of wonderful development in the opinion of Sir Frank. This means a coming to an understanding of the oriental question, and the oriental viewpoint plus a willingness to invest money. British investments in South America, he said, are greater than those of the United States.

Co-operation in all matters is fundamental to a developed trade. One country cannot play a lone hand, but to work out its destiny must go hand in hand with other countries. We must first be a citizen of the world before we can be good Americans. We must have vision, but we must also remember that trade follows the investment oftener than it does the flag.

NEW BANK TODAY.

Another new bank will open its doors today fully equipped for the transaction of a general business of sufficient scope to make an appeal to the progressive people it will naturally serve. The Bank of Van Nuys, of which W. P. Whitsett is president, F. M. Smith, vice-president and cashier, and W. E. Bierkamp, vice-president, will commence business in temporary quarters next to the postoffice, but a two-story building is to be started at once with a complete and modern banking equipment. Discussing the new bank yesterday, President Whitsett said:

"It was an earnest start we made here in 1911. Van Nuys has become the center of many activities since. It now becomes the financial center of Los Angeles valley. The necessity everywhere for more contented citizenship and more intensive production demands the same earnest efforts. We must develop, all over the nation, more of the small agricultural home places which have proved so successful here. The Bank of Van Nuys will strive to be safely helpful along these lines in this valley.

We have sixty-eight local stockholders and the following directors:

William Andrew, Edgar Rice Burroughs, Charles A. Bevis, L. S. Blenkiron, W. E. Bierkamp, Carter R. Bishop, W. N. Dickerson, Mark Grimes, A. M. Harrison, R. L. Owens, George E. Platt, F. M. Smith, M. C. Sutton, and Charles H. Toll.

TARIFF TERMS.

In tariff discussion the terms ad valorem rates and specific duties are all Greek to the general public. The two terms are also often confused.

By specific duty is meant that a certain fixed amount is added to each pound, yard or gallon, etc., of a specified product that is brought into this country.

By ad valorem rate is meant a rate of percentage based on the value of goods imported. The duty, of course, is the amount of import duty that is paid; the rate is the method by which the amount of ad valorem duty is ascertained. In other words, specific duties are already fixed, the amount in each case already determined, while under the ad valorem system the duty is ascertained after multiplying the value of the goods imported by the rate, the same as in any other percentage calculation.

SUBSCRIBED TEN TIMES.

Details of the allotment of the New York Telephone Company $50,000,000 issue brought out early this week by J. P. Morgan & Co., were announced yesterday and show that the issue was oversubscribed practically ten times. The amount subscribed by investors throughout the country to this high-class public utility first mortgage issue was $488,000,000. The issue has enjoyed an almost immediate enhancement in value during the first few days it has been in the hands of the traders.

According to the plans for allotment given out yesterday by the Morgan concern, subscriptions up to $2500 will get 20 per cent of the bonds ordered, those up to $75,000 will get 10 per cent, and those over that figure, 5 per cent. Minimum allotments of $100, $500 and $7500 for each of the three classes of subscriptions have also been set.

FIRST MORTGAGE ISSUE.

Financing for the largest office building in the world, the General Motors Building in Detroit, is being accomplished through the issuance of a $12,000,000 first mortgage, 7 per cent serial bonds, safeguarded by the Straus plan, and offered on the local investment market yesterday by S. W. Straus & Co.

This issue is primarily secured by the building which was completed this year at a cost of $21,462,288. Furthermore, it is a first lien on the guaranteed net rental earnings of the building. These rentals are guaranteed by the lessees of the building, the General Motors Company. The actual borrowing corporation is the General Motors Building Corporation, which is a holding company owned and controlled by the General Motors Company.

The building has been leased by the latter concern for a period of thirty years, but the $12,000,000 bond issue will be completely amortized within twenty-five years. The bonds mature serially in gradually increasing amounts each year from 1922 to 1946. They are being sold by S. W. Straus & Co. to yield 7 per cent.

NATIONAL LEATHER.

Shareholders of the National Leather Company will meet in Boston on December 2 for the purpose of voting on the plan authorized by the directors to reduce the present outstanding stock from 3,000,000 shares to 750,000, and to issue 150,000 shares of preferred, 8 per cent preferred stock of $100 per share par value. Drastic declines in the value of finished leather products and the diminished volume of new sales have forced the leather company to seek this means to secure sufficient funds to carry on the business. For the purpose of this meeting, the stock transfer books will be closed from November 19 to December 5.

STATE BOND ISSUE.

The $2,860,000 issue of State of California Capitol extension building, 4 per cent bonds, which were sold this week by the State Treasurer at a reported discount of $393,540, will be offered to the public by a syndicate of local bond houses headed by Cyrus Peirce & Co. Other members of this group are Hunter, Dulin & Co., R. H. Moulton & Co., the bond department of the Bank of Italy, and Frank & Lewis. The bonds all mature in 1965. The offering will probably be made early next week.

ALHAMBRA BANK MERGER.

The merger of the Alhambra Savings and Commercial Bank, the oldest financial institution in Alhambra, with the First National Bank of Los Angeles and the Los Angeles Trust and Savings Bank, was announced yesterday. Resources of the Alhambra bank total $1,721,000, and its merging with the Los Angeles institution means that the total resources of the banks headed by Henry M. Robinson, president of the First National Bank, now exceed $167,000,000.

The transaction completed yesterday does not entail an outright purchase but the stockholders of the Alhambra bank, through an exchange of shares, become co-partners in the entire business of the Los Angeles institutions. The controlling interest in the Alhambra Savings and Commercial Bank is owned by William J. Bettinger, who has made several improvements since his purchase of the bank some time ago. The bank's capital is now $125,000 and its surplus and undivided profits approximate $62,000; and its deposits exceed $1,500,000.

The Los Angeles banks have in the past advanced large sums of money for development in the San Gabriel Valley, and at the same time the Alhambra Savings and Commercial Bank is in particularly close touch with the requirements of a large portion of that territory. According to officials of the First National Bank, it is for this reason that the consolidation was brought about.

BILTMORE STOCK.

The way for public participation in the Biltmore Hotel project has been opened with the opening of subscription headquarters at 633 Pacific Mutual Building. An unsubscribed block of $1,400,000 of the total issue of $4,000,000 will be offered to the local investor at par. Subscriptions to this portion of the securities of the Central Investment Corporation, which will finance the purchase of the site and construction of the building, will be supervised by a subscription committee of leading citizens, headed by J. F. Sartori, and composed of H. M. Robinson, Arthur Letts, Lee A. Phillips, James R. Martin, Howard S. Dudley and Charles G. Andrews.

The investment features that are found in this stock offer are the small capitalization compared to the valuation of the proposed building and property, which is located at Fifth and Olive streets, the possibilities for enhancement in value of the real estate, and the twenty-five-year lease on the hotel building which insures a net return in excess of 7 1-2 per cent on the issued capital stock. The hotel, when completed, will represent a total investment of $7,000,000 for the land and buildings, including carrying charges during construction. It has been already leased to John McE. Bowman, owner of the Biltmore Hotel of New York City.

Subscriptions may be made at any Los Angeles bank or reliable bond house, according to the committee. All subscriptions are strictly subject to allotment. No commissions and compensations are paid for subscriptions and no payments for stock are required until the project is fully financed, at which time 30 per cent will be required on thirty days' notice, the balance in installments of 20 per cent at sixty-day intervals.

CHANGES NAME.

By a decision of the Superior Court yesterday, the application of the Los Angeles Curb Exchange to change its name to Los Angeles Stock and Bond Exchange was granted.

In speaking of the exchange, Bertram D. Lackey, president, said:

"The word 'curb' exchange is not indicative of our organization, and those unfamiliar with our activities were sometimes of the impression that we operated upon the street, while as a matter of fact several thousands of dollars have been expended by us in fitting up quarters, where every facility is afforded the broker and public.

"Many of the present local unlisted bonds are to be listed upon our board, that a public market may be afforded the owners in the future."

STOCK MARKET UNCERTAIN.

Advances Larger in Scope Than Declines, But Movement Seems to Lack Any Definite Cause.

BY ALEXANDER DANA NOYES.
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—A somewhat confused stock market, a recovery in wheat and cotton which seemed to be one of the alternations in the speculations mood and a foreign exchange market which moved very little, though sterling got back again to the $4 level, made up today's chapter of incidents.

Today's stock advances were considerably larger in scope than the declines; some industrial shares rose 3 to 5 points. But the rise was affected and distributed in such a way as to make it hard to ascribe the movement to any important general cause. Perhaps the most striking fact was the completeness with which the conference at Washington disappeared from Wall street's talk about financial influences. One reason for that may have been the passage of the disarmament discussion from the field of large general principles to that of details.

Resumption of dividends by the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway, not being unexpected, had practically no influence, on the railway shares; nevertheless it is the kind of news which would be heard in many other directions if the railway working economies were to be supplemented by recovery in general trade.

In the market for railway bonds some rather noteworthy advances occurred and the general trend of prices was upward. An advance of call money rates to 5½ per cent, the highest since Monday, received more attention than it deserved. A considerably more important change, the reduction of 1-4 of 1 per cent in rates for loans running to next spring passed without notice.

Toyland Opens Today

In full regalia, with Santa in his own house—and the store open all day.

TOYLAND

Is All A-Tip-Toe With Readiness

Brimful with thousands of Christmas toys, Toyland fairly dances with the radiance of its bright, new gifts as it never has before. It is like slipping away to Fairyland, to wander through the gayly decorated aisles. How easy it is---in that great world of make-believe---to imagine oneself ten again! And in some mysterious way, that only elves know, every whim of childhood has been remembered.

Truly, once more the world's at play! It would seem toy makers never had as joyous a time as this year, planning and plotting to make this the child's first real Christmas in several seasons! Here you will find old friends and whimsical new ones, too, each equally fascinating.

Toys Interesting in Great Diversity

When lights are low, what fun the curious animals, the tiny soldier men, the lovely dollies have talking about the happiness they will bring children on Christmas morning. Sometimes if all is quiet, dignified elephants talk to diminutive lions in their tiny cages to discuss the joy of belonging to fat, chubby children.

And here they are---on display for early choosing---toys familiar and toys new with untold surprises. And while stocks are so gigantic that all Toyland is electric with Christmas cheer, every one---young and old alike---is urged to visit this great, fascinating world.

Santa Claus Writes a Letter to Every Little Boy and Girl

Dear Boys and Girls:

At last I'm here! It has been so hard to wait a whole year to come back to you. Many and many a time I looked at my great calender on the walls of my workshop in the Northland to see how soon I could jump in my reindeer sled to be off over land and sea!

Finally my big sacks were packed in every nook and corner of my new auto! (You know I don't use a sleigh to come to California!) My fairies tucked in the robes and off I bounded, as fast as the wind, to come to you at Toyland in the big Hamburger store.

Every waking hour, since I left you, I've been thinking of my little friends. And I've secrets galore to tell you about the wonderful new toys that fill my sack so full I can scarcely lift it.

There are wonderful automobiles for bigger boys—and bats and balls without number. Then there are the most cuddly little animal playthings for tiniest baby sister. Bright dolls, funny little toy clowns, doll houses—I couldn't even begin to tell you all the wondrous toys that will come tumbling out of my bags this year!

I hope I see hundreds of familiar little faces this year. I want to see all the boys and girls I met last year and many many new friends. Bring tiny baby brother or sister—for I love babies—all your new school friends and the little girls and boys who have moved into your neighborhood while I was away.

Your mamma can tell you where to find me—it's very very simple—at Toyland, Hamburger's. Here I live every day from 10 to 12 and from 2 to 4:30 o'clock, surrounded by the toys I love so well and which, perhaps, you will wake up Christmas morning to find beside your own Christmas tree.
